Resident fears conditions in LeMoyne Gardens

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

While some areas of Inkster are experiencing a boom – referred to as a Renaissance by some business leaders – drugs and the accompanying criminal activity continue to plague other areas.

A resident of the LeMoyne Gardens housing project has pleaded for help in several anonymous letters to the Inkster Ledger-Star, fearing retaliation if his name is revealed.

Because of newspaper policy, his unsigned letters were not published until now. Excerpts from the latest letter are being printed because Michigan Community Newspapers plans to launch a series, titled “LeMoyne Gardens: The good, the bad, the ugly,” to explore the problems in the housing project.

His latest letter, addressed to the attention of the managing editor, said: “I’m writing this letter to the mayor and sending a copy to the paper. I am a concerned citizen within the city of Inkster.

“In the LeMoyne Garden Estates, conditions within the estate are decaying. To me, it looks pretty nasty. It needs the involvement of residents and the council to clean it up before the situation gets out of hand.

“I’d like to remain anonymous at this time. Come out and see the area for yourself,” he wrote.

In his message to the mayor, he asks that Mayor Edward Bivens Jr. and the Inkster City Council come together with the Inkster Housing Commission “to have something done to control drug trafficking and distribution.

“LeMoyne Gardens have become a bad place and, as I see it, things are going down, instead of moving up. Drug sales and distribution are still going on in the estates. The appearance of the neighborhood is going down,” he wrote. “It seems as though the destroyer has destroyed the beautification of the estate. No body wants to get involved, but a few people to make a change.”

He suggests that those who make the rules and regulations for the housing complex follow up on the violations within their lease agreement.

“I thought when I moved in 12 years ago, that it was all right. Over the years, some things have changed, but not much. The beautification of the neighborhood has gone down. There’s trash and debris along side the walks. It’s very disgusting.

“I do the best I can to keep up my property while I’m here. It’s sad when you have drug pushers going across your lawn to sell drugs to your neighbors and being disrespectful,” he wrote.

I’ve reported on some occasions to the Inkster Police Department and also to the Inkster Housing manager, where I had to leave a message on the answering service,” according to the resident.

He said there are violations of the lease agreements. For example, a family of eight are living in a handicap unit for one.

“Drug sales and distribution of drugs are prevalent and the housing commission knows about it – and who some of the people are,” he wrote. “But, nobody seems to do anything. Everyone seems to want to keep things under cover. Trouble is everywhere.

“But if everyone pulled together to rid the neighborhoods of the bad guys and promote growth and unity within the city limits, Inkster would be more prosperous,” he wrote.

In closing, the letter writer asked for the mayor’s help, saying, “Take a stand. Do work for the Lord. He’ll see you through. Amen.”

Residents of LeMoyne Gardens who wish to comment on the positive as well as the negative aspects of the housing complex, may call 729-4000 and talk to Joan Dyer-Zinner or Tom Mooradian between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. The identity of the callers will not be revealed if they do not wish to do so.

In addition, anonymous phone calls can be made to Sound Off 729-4006 between 5 p.m. and 9 a.m. Monday through Friday and any time on the weekend.

Letters may be sent to Michigan Community Newspapers, Inkster Ledger-Star, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne, Mich. 48184.

Hate symbols plastered on doors of black church

By LORI GILLESPIE

When the Rev. Virgil Humes arrived at the New Hope Missionary Baptist Church at 10 a.m. Tuesday, he noticed garbage strewn about the yard surrounding the church. As he came to the back entrance, Humes realized the debris had been placed there deliberately.

The two doors were almost totally covered with stickers which had hate messages on them. “In the last couple of months, I have received a number of hate phone calls aimed against blacks,” said the pastor, who is African-American. “I haven’t paid much attention to them until this morning.”

Pastor Humes said most of the callers have sounded like adults. “The last voice I heard certainly sounded like an adult.”

The Wayne church has been there since 1973. This isn’t the first time a racially-motivated crime has taken place at the church, but, he said, “I hope this is the last.” In the late 1970s, there was a cross burning. According to the pastor, the flames were extinguished, and the cross taken away before most of the congregation had arrived at the church.

Although the church is predominantly made up of African-Americans, Humes said there are five to 10 white members in the congregation.

“I just wish people could be color blind,” Pastor Humes said. “And treat each other with civility. Help the poor people and each other instead of preying on others, especially the church. With all of the church-burnings in the South, I hope this is not a precursor of things to come. Life is so much better when people get along.”

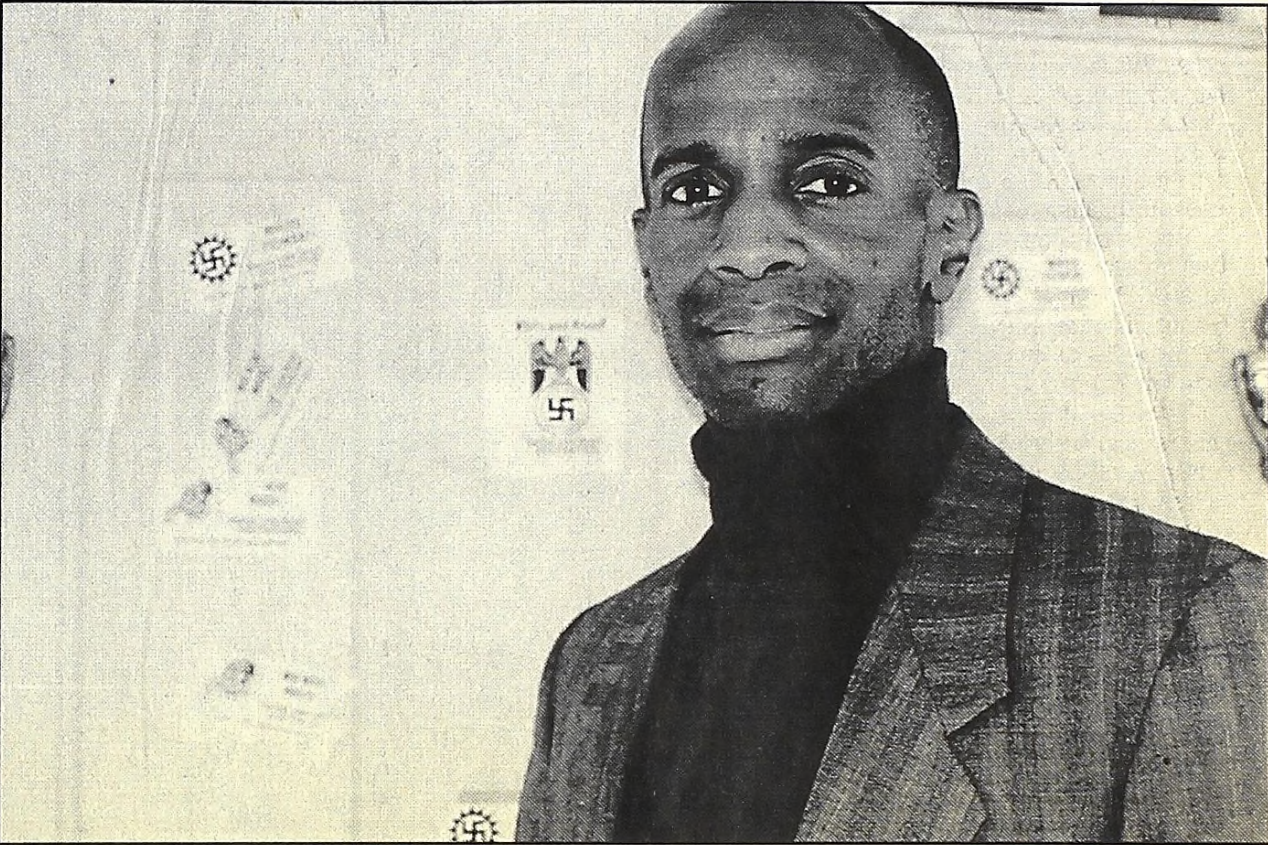

Although Pastor Humes said he would definitely be taking the stickers off the door, he said he was filled with anger when he first saw them. “I was angry, yet not discouraged from doing the things we’ve been doing. Our church is very active in the community.”

The Wayne Police were called to examine the graffiti and stickers. The officers took a few of the stickers, and told Humes they would call him if they found anything.

“These individuals must be filled with hatred, especially since they don’t know us,” Humes said. “We would like to change that, and fill them with hope.”

The minister observed his sixth anniversary at the church on Sunday with guest speakers and fellowship.

Humes, who is active in civic endeavors, has served as a mentor for the Romulus and Wayne-Westland school districts and as a pastoral care volunteer for Community Hospice Service.

Airport funding deal near

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The long sought agreement on funding for a massive new Detroit Metro Airport terminal could be reached in a matter of days, Deputy Wayne County Executive Michael Duggan predicted Wednesday morning.

A Tuesday-Wednesday visit by U.S. Transportation Secretary Federico Pena helped solidify the need for the modern new terminal at the 13th busiest airport, Duggan said, as well as President Clinton's commitment to the airport growth project.

While Duggan remains closed-mouth about the scope of the negotiations between Wayne County and Northwest Airlines, he felt talks held on several levels on Tuesday would break some longjams on the terminal talks.

Several predicted settlement dates provided earlier by County Executive Edward McNamara never materialized, critics complain.

When asked if the agreement would definitely be accomplished this summer, Duggan said, "we're talking about days on the settlement and then I would expect a public announcement to follow soon."

Pena re-pledged the $150 million federal grant figure first mentioned by President Clinton while he was on a campaign swing in Michigan in March.

He then added a second $6.9 million grant for the airport to use for noise mitigation purposes and for the construction of an airport fire training facility.

Duggan refuted published reports that the $6.9 million grant was contingent upon a signed Wayne County-Northwest pact on the terminal. For all purposes, Duggan said, the grant that includes $5 million for noise mitigation purposes is already here.

Wayne County Commissioner Bruce Patterson (R-Canton), a member of the commission's airport oversight committee, revealed Wednesday

"We're talking about days on the settlement and then I would expect a public announcement to follow soon."

- Michael Duggan

day that he was cautiously optimistic about any new money provided for noise mitigation.

"I wasn't aware that such noise mitigation grant plans were even being discussed in Washington, so it definitely is news to me. I have no seat at the (negotiation) table, so much of what I learn about the county's noise mitigation efforts I get from members of the press rather than the third floor" (McNamara's office in the county building).

While Duggan admitted the $150 million federal grant was not to be used directly for the new terminal, it would be put into the $1.5 billion airport upgrade proposal.

According to June West, McNamara's press secretary, $5 million of that second grant would go to noise mitigation efforts and $1.5 to the training site.

The $150 million funding project reportedly will need congressional approval, but according to Pena would lead to the creation of 30,000 jobs, generate economic benefits for the entire region" and help Metro Airport become a world-class airport.

"This project makes sense for southeast Michigan and the whole country," Pena said.

The continual growth of Metro Airport has caused a love-hate relationship between McNamara's office, Romulus city officials and western Wayne County residents.

West feels that the McNamara team has worked diligently on land purchase agreements in Romulus and noise mitigation efforts in Romulus, Huron Township and other affected communities.

Patterson however has continually been prodding McNamara and airport growth officials to speed up their efforts so that area homeowners and business representatives can "get on with their lives."

Romulus officials in both the administrations of Mayor Beverly McNally and Mayor William Oakley have chided Wayne County for not fulfilling the land trade for the city's Department of Public Works building on Goddard Road.

McNally, while still in office, said "the Salvation Army is almost ready to move into their new center and we haven't even had a serious negotiation on our DPW land trade."

Wayne County has purchased the old Salvation Army Adult Rehabilitation Center on Goddard Road, but the DPW building and one or more commercial businesses still have not been bought by the county.

Foundation plans business lunch

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A business appreciation luncheon to introduce the newly organized Romulus Educational Foundation is slated for 11:30 a.m. May 15 at Romulus High School.

At this point the luncheon that will be served by the school's culinary arts students will be served in the school's atrium. If a larger than expected turnout arrives, the luncheon will be switched to the school's cafeteria.

The speakers of the day are expected to be Pete Bergeron, foundation president; and Thomas Dolan, school district curriculum director.

Other foundation members include Jim Gannon, Carl Etue, Brian Oakley and Kevin Warrenton. In addition to Dolan, other ex-officio members include Romulus School Board trustee Julie Oleszkowicz and district secretary, Louise Briody.

The foundation was organized earlier this year in an effort to create new funding sources for the local school district, Bergeron said.

Oakley said "interest in developing a separate education foundation first came about after the passage of Proposal A in 1994.

"Because of the state's increased control over local districts' purse strings, these districts will soon be forced to find alternative funding methods if they want to continue to provide their students with quality education."

Oakley added "specifically we want to help our district turn out graduates who are fully prepared to step directly into the work force.

Foundation members will work closely with the school district in identifying school programs that can be enhanced through the foundation.

While this business appreciation luncheon is free to those attending it, the foundation in the future plans to organize fund raisers such as golf outings, etc. to create needed school funding.

Further information can be obtained by calling Briody at 941-1600.

Plymouth), Franzen said he is excited about the opportunities and challenges here.

"For lack of a better word, I'd have to say that I want to make the court more user-friendly," Franzen said. "For most people their only experience in the court house is to pay a traffic ticket or some other short time activity. We want to make that experience as positive as possible, so that their vision of the court is a plus."

Having just finished a little more than a week on the job in Romulus, Franzen said he is strongly encouraged by the personnel here. "We want to make sure that citizens are shown dignity, respect and professionalism," he concluded.

Partnership inked at Cory school

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A new educational partnership between Cory Elementary School and the Wayne-Romulus Optimist Club was finalized recently.

Veteran 34th District Court Judge William Szlinis presided at the partnership event that was highlighted by an allegiance pledge by Phyllis Atkins, Cory School principal; Jennette Nolen, Optimist Club president; and Judy Wilson, Cory School Parent Booster.

Optimist Club Vice President Michael Woods declared "We already have a successful working relationship with Cory students, the staff and Principal Atkins, however we wanted to become even more committed to this important relationship. The program tonight guarantees this commitment."

Opal McClendon, Optimist Club secretary-treasurer, declared "Our club sponsors and manages a mentor and modeling program, physical fitness activities and an annual 'Respect the Law' seminar.

"We are proud of our past accomplishments at the school and look forward to continuing this successful partnership for many years," McClendon added.

This partnership concurs with one of the purposes of the Optimist Club, that is "to aid and encourage the development of youth and the belief that the giving of one's self in service to others will advance the well being of man, his community and the world."

Szlinis congratulated the club and its members for its volunteering of time and talents.

Among those in attendance were School Trustees Sandra Langley and Julie Oleszkowicz, Superintendent Dr. William Bedell, State Rep. Greg Pitoniak and Wayne County Commissioner Bruce Patterson.

Westland rental community offers unique housing opportunity

Oak Village, a private rental community of 315 duplex ranch homes built in the mid-1950s in the city of Westland, was once known as a "nice place to live." However, by the late 1980s the community's value had depreciated due to a lack of proper maintenance and poor tenant screening. It soon developed a bad reputation within the community.

The downward spiral of Oak Village continued until February of 1995 when it was purchased by Certified Realty of Farmington Hills. New owners Ron Boraks and Ron Abrams, owners of Certified, saw value in Oak Village and developed a two-year plan to return it to the desirable community it had been years earlier. The plan includes updating and improving the interiors of each home and extensive new landscaping for the whole community.

“Twenty percent of the vacant units are now remodeled and ready for occupancy.”

- Ron Boraks

The task of turning Oak Village around meant not only updating the appearance of each unit but the tenant list as well. Certified Realty started the process by doing away with month-to-month leasing, and establishing a six-month to one year lease program. Many problem tenants weren't offered new leases. Remodeled units have all new appliances, flooring, carpeting, professional paint jobs and more.

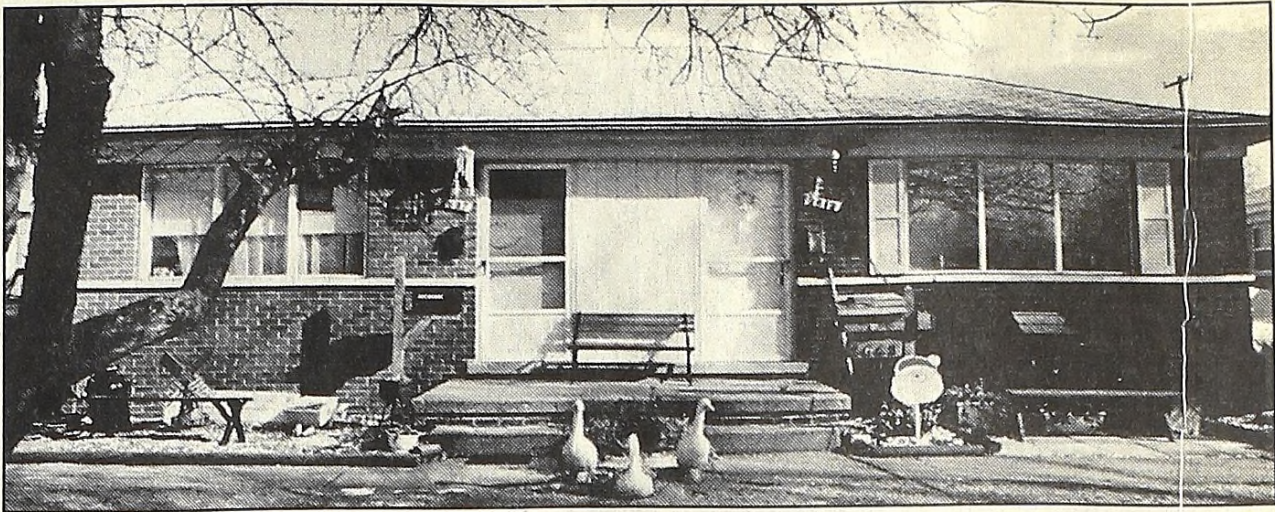

"We currently have about 60 percent occupancy, but we would rather have a short term vacancy problem then keep the type of tenant that drag the whole community down," said Boraks. "Our long term goal is to return Oak Village to a nice place to live. Twenty percent of the vacant units are now remodeled and ready for occupancy."

Oak Village is a mix of singles, couples, seniors and families, mostly blue collar. Each two-bedroom brick ranch has a four person maximum occupancy and all indoor/outdoor maintenance is included in the rent.

"I like having the amenities of a house but without having to do any of the maintenance myself. There's plenty of space for one person or a small family. Plus, the office staff always treats me like I'm special," said Gary Burton of Westland.

For more information or to see a model contact Oak Village at (313) 721-8111.

‘Prisoners’ donate bail money to fight Muscular Dystrophy

By AMY COLLIGAN
MCN Special Writer

The annual Muscular Dystrophy Association Lock-up went well as “prisoners” raised more than $6,000.

Last Wednesday, local residents and area business people were hauled away by volunteers from the Wayne County Sheriff’s Department, State Police and Wayne’s Auxiliary Police to the community center, where mobile phones were set up to call friends and family to post “bail”.

Bail was tentatively set at $750 but organizers appreciated anything prisoners could raise.

Pat Bernier, an employee at Oakwood Healthcare’s Nuclear Medicine was the first person to reach $750 in donations.

“Pat was the first person brought in and the first to meet bail,” said Beth Wheland, program coordinator for MDA.

Alex Moore, of Weis Roberts Partitions, also reached the $750 bail limit.

“As far as I know,” said Wheland, “They were the only two to reach bail.”

Although only two people met bail Wheland said MDA was pleased with the day’s outcome.

“It went well,” said Wheland. “We doubled what we collected last year in Wayne so it was a nice thing.”

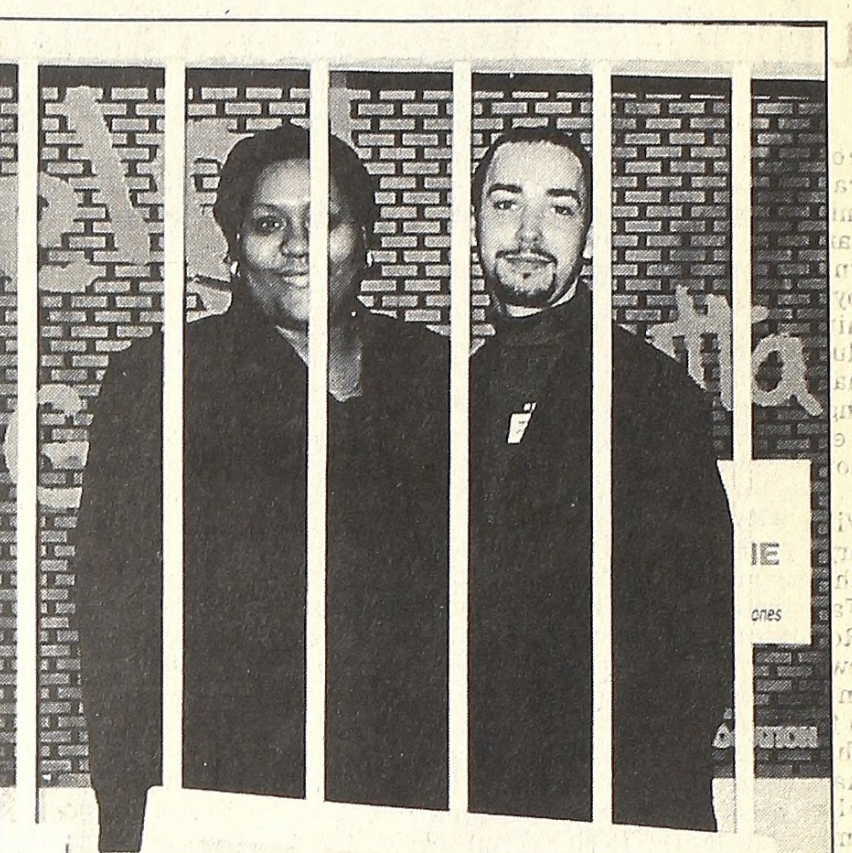

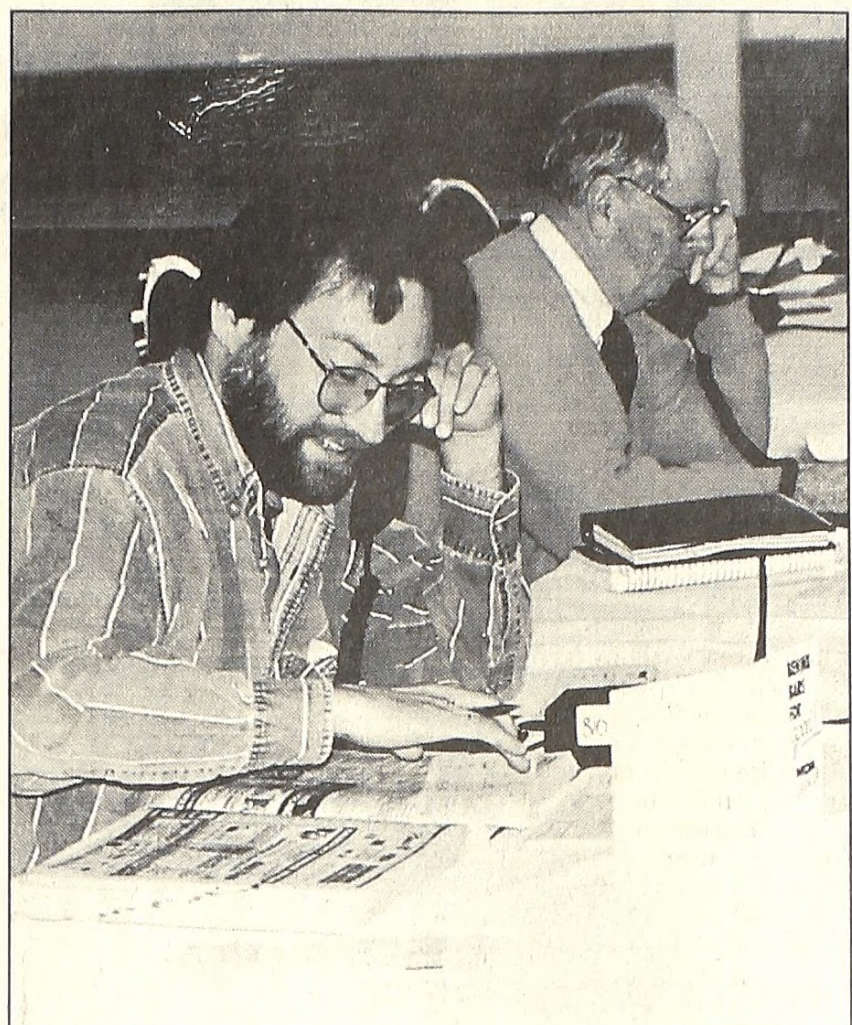

Prisoners were sent pledge sheets weeks prior to the lock-up and were only kept at the community center for an hour as they made last minute attempts to fill up their pledge sheets.

Captain Nemo’s Sub, Subway, Bee Jay’s Kitchen, Dawn Donuts, and Food Basket Markets helped make the day go smoothly with their donations of food for the prisoners and Cellular One donated all mobile phones and air time for the event.

“We couldn’t have done it without them,” said Wheland.

All money raised by MDA goes towards physical therapy sessions, wheelchairs, special camps and other medical needs as well as funding for research.

sors more neuromuscular research than any private or governmental agency in the world. Virtually all of today’s textbook knowledge about muscles is based on research done by the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

MDA receives no funding from state, federal or local government and depends entirely on public contributions.

Get jailed for charity

Going to jail might not sound like the most fun thing to do, but a fund raising effort for the American Heart Association of Michigan is trying to make it so.

Lee and Noel Bittinger of Re/Max Real Estate, and Suzanne Thomas of Flagstar Bank are facing incarceration on May 17 in the American Heart Association of Michigan’s “Cardiac Arrest” drive to raise $30,000 for heart disease research.

The trio along with Cindy Immen of Metropolitan Title are co-chairing the drive with American Heart Association Personnel and are searching for other community leaders to become “jailbirds” along with them in the hopes of helping them raise funds.

Imagine prominent citizens from your community hauled into jail and held until they make bail. Although they’re treated like actual prisoners, they aren’t guilty of heinous crimes. The entire episode will be staged at Fellows Creek Country Club and is staged to raise money for the American Heart Association.

Through Cardiac Arrest, volunteer leaders organize a fund raising effort in which prominent citizens raise “bail” to free themselves from the clutches of the American Heart Association. Each “jailbird” gathers money from friends, family, co-workers and business associates to use as bail. When bail has been raised, it’s donated to support the research.

Sometimes trying to get out of Western Wayne to other parts of the world is extremely frustrating. I experienced one of those days last week on my way to North Oakland County to attend a meeting.

Mike's musings
Mike Wilcox

First obstacle was the construction at I-275 and Ford Road. Like many I-275 motorists, driving the speed limit is unheard of, but stopping completely and waiting in stop and go traffic for nearly 25 minutes is exceedingly frustrating. And to think this construction will continue through June. Yuck!!! That's how I began my day.

The best was yet to come, however. At 7 Mile Road, traffic again began to slow. This time it wasn't construction. I soon became engulfed in a straw storm. You heard it right. Bales of hay had disengaged from a farmer's truck and I-275 motorists were playing dodg'em cars in an effort to avoid smashing into the loose bales. One might expect this problem in Iowa, but come on, in urban Detroit!

Apparently a few motorists were unable to avoid the hay. Several bales busted loose because the swirling wind managed to create a storm of straw that created zero visibility for many motorists. Imagine using your windshield wipers at top speed in an effort to clear the straw from your viewing path. It was definitely not a pretty sight.

I managed to avoid disaster. I was finally exiting I-275 (whew) to take Highway 5 up to 12 Mile Road. I have traveled this route more times than Cecil Fielder has hit a home run. Wouldn't you know, on this particular day as I veer off I'm heading towards a barricade. MDOT in their infinite wisdom has decided to block the road completely off.

Again, disaster is narrowly avoided. I move on down the road to the next exit - Novi Road. Now I must go past always busy Twelve Oaks Mall and double back on 12 Mile Road to get to Haggerty. Wouldn't you know, traffic was bumper-to-bumper here as well, as police tried to clear a fender bender in an intersection.

Mind you on an ordinary day I would have reached my destination in one hour. Today, I had traveled 20 miles and already pushing one hour and twenty minutes. My meeting had long ago started. For a guy who drives nearly 40,000 miles a year, and has seen about everything there is to see on the e-way, this was the drive from hell. I certainly do not want to duplicate it any time soon!

Bridge earns salute

The completion of a four-lane bridge crossing Belleville Lake at Belleville Road has prompted community leaders to celebrate the event with an 11 a.m. May 11 ribbon-cutting ceremony and "bridge walk."

While the completion of a bridge may not seem to warrant a major celebration, the enthusiasm of the community about the project certainly does.

The Belleville Bridge, as it now stands, is a symbol of victory for residents who battled to have a distinctive design for the new bridge which replaced the 70-year-old original structure. The initial plans called for a simple structure with no adornments, which was termed unacceptable by residents who wanted the "gateway to the city" to enhance the downtown Streetscape.

By working together, leaders of Belleville and Van Buren Township and their residents won the battle for a new design — one which is being honored by the American Public Works Association in the projects under $2 million category. Also sharing in the honor is Chesley Odom of Belleville who designed the decorative features of the award-winning bridge.

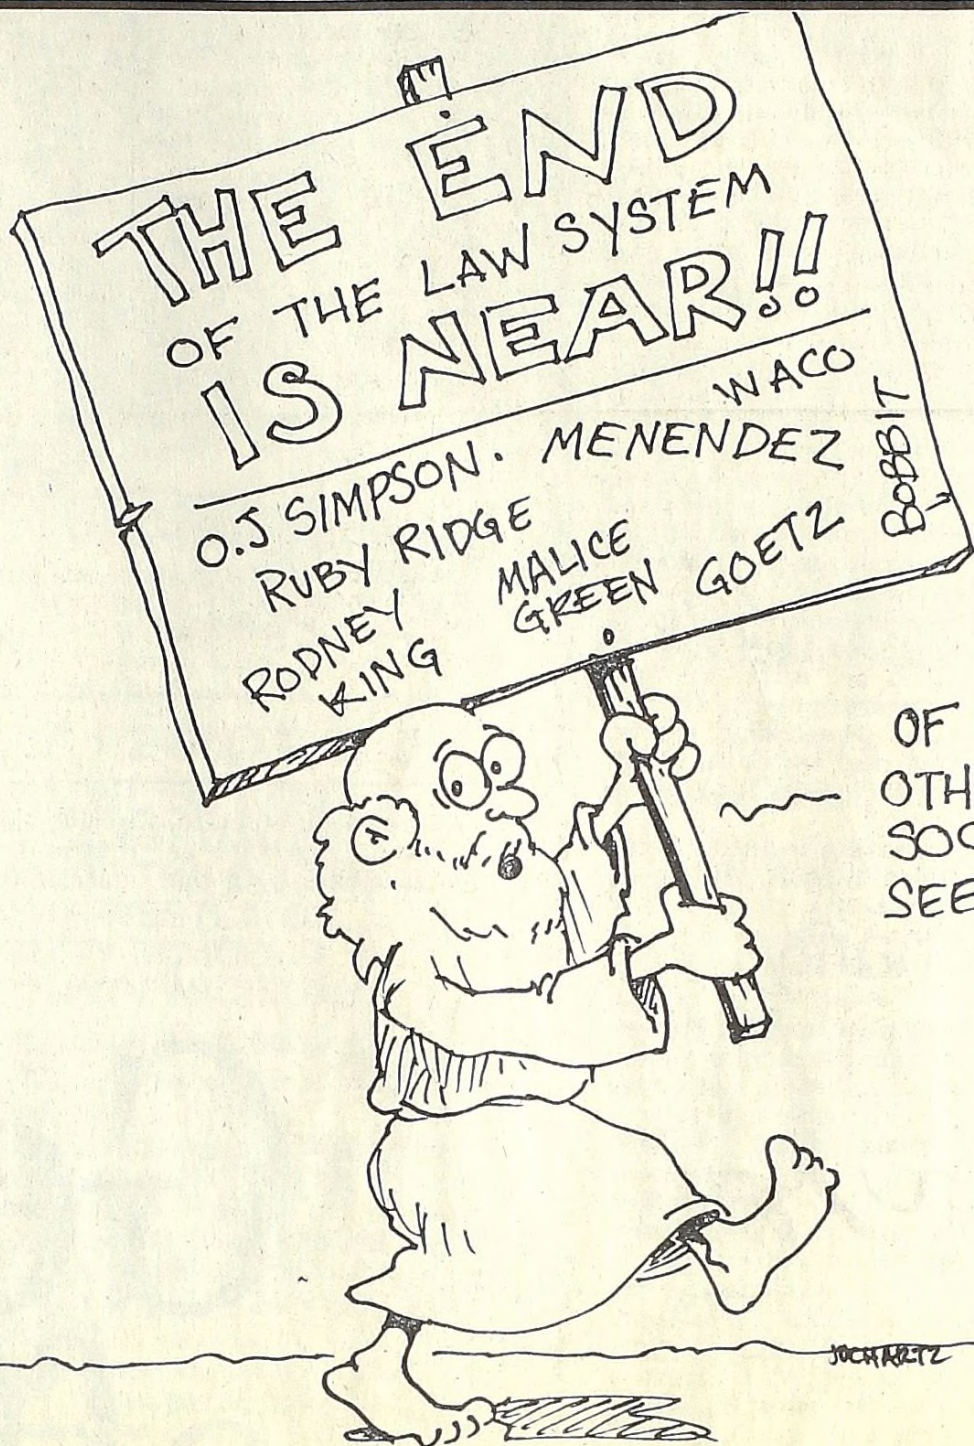

We congratulate those who worked to make their dream of an attractive "gateway to the city" come true.

Law Day reminder needed

During the first week in May, Law Day observances are planned in many of our communities to provide citizens with a first-hand look at our judicial system.

We praise the efforts of area district courts to acquaint citizens with the legal process through visits by students to the courtrooms and programs presented to senior citizens.

At a time when the public's interest in the legal system has been aroused by media attention of celebrities' trials, it is necessary to show the "everyday" side of the legal system in our local courts so that individuals will get a balanced view of the law

OF COURSE, THE OTHER 99% OF SOCIETY DOES SEEM TO FUNCTION O.K....

Dump fighters praised

To the editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Van Buren Township board and its employees for their tireless efforts in opposing Wayne Disposal - E.Q.'s request for permits to add more and more toxic substances to their landfill. This group which calls itself "Environmental Quality" has no interest in the environment or in quality. They have shown by their past performance that they have no interest in this community, it's residents, it's safety or it's future. They can run all of the full page ads, all of the letters and explanations that they want ... we know that they are in this business of destruction for the millions of dollars involved. When this facility has been filled, they will move on to another helpless community without a backward glance or thought!

Whether we are successful in this battle or not I know that the Van Buren Township Board will be there checking, investigating and defending our right to fresh air, clean water and a safe environment for our children.

Belleville and officials of Sumpter, Huron, Lincoln, Ypsilanti Township, Augusta Township, Dearborn, Romulus, Milan and Canton who stood up with us. Thanks to Mr. Richendollar and the Van Buren Public Schools and all of the others who were with us in this very important cause ... our future.

I hope, in November, we will remember the elected officials who took a stand against "Big Business" such as Bruce Patterson and Lynn Rivers and Sen. Loren Bennett. I also hope we remember those who were too busy! Governor Engler, you should have been there with us. You have the power to be heard. Where were you when we needed you? You, of all people, should defend your state, the Great Lakes and your people. If not you, who?

Candidate questioned

To the editor:

Regarding the letter (Out of Order) in the April 25, 1996 paper - As a concerned and active parent in the Wayne Westland School District, I was very stunned to have read that a parent who's child attends a private school, is running for a position on the Wayne Westland School Board!

It seems that anyone who doesn't have their child in the public school, can not possibly begin to understand the frustrations and concerns that we, as public school parents, face.

I have grave concerns entrusting my children's educational matters to one who's interest can only be power and prestige. Since their child's education has not suffered; ie: losing bussing, libraries closing, outdated educational materials and the lack of funds for educational programs.

I only hope that the concerned Wayne Westland parents will take a moment and evaluate their child's needs in the public school and not the aspiration of one candidate.

Wage hike debated

To the editor:

In the continuing debate over raising the minimum wage, one of the recurring themes is that it would hurt, not help, low-wage workers and poor families. Indeed, the Democratic Leadership Council (a "New Democrat" think tank organization that counts President Clinton among its former leaders) recently released a report saying that raising the minimum wage is not an answer to helping low-wage Americans.

However, if one requires tangible evidence of how government tinkering with wages and prices has a detrimental effect on low-income Americans, poor families, small- and minority-owned businesses, they need look no further than another government mandated minimum wage: the Davis-Bacon Act, or as it is more commonly referenced, the federal prevailing wage laws. Prevailing wage laws act as a "super minimum wage," which requires government contractors to pay administratively-determined wages and fringe benefits on public works projects where federal money is involved. "Administratively-determined" wages mean that the required minimum wage on public works projects is calculated by the U.S. Department of Labor, which issues pay scales for each job classification in a county. Most of the time, these scales reflect union wages and benefits rather than the local market "going rate." Many states, Michigan among them, also have prevailing wage laws that impose the same requirements for projects involving state money.

Given the rhetoric offered by those supporting a raise in the minimum wage, one would logically assume that the original motives behind the federal super minimum wage or prevailing wage law, were just as noble - to help low-income workers, poor families and to "give Amer-rica a raise.”

Many economists have contended that prevailing wage laws keep unskilled, low-wage workers out of the job market, where they could be developing skills and technical know-how that would improve their wage position in the long run. A recent Wall Street Journal column suggested that the federal prevailing wage laws remains a principal reason why blacks are unemployed at twice the rate of whites in the construction trade.
The federal super minimum wages imposed by the Davis-Bacon Act did the job they were intended to do: keep the low-wage, unskilled laborer out of the work force. Whatever the professed motives of advocates, an increase in the current minimum wage will have the same result.

More facts presented

To the editor:
Thanks for reporting our attempt to address the Inkster city council about the dangers from pollution and the huge expense of the Central Wayne incinerator. Unfortunately, we only had three minutes each to dispense a lot of information about the present pollution and the projected expansion that would affect both the health and pocketbooks of Inkster residents. It's too bad that there hasn't been any public hearings to explain this project to the people, because if they did find out what is happening, they would surely rise up in protest. Especially when taxpayers realize that they are paying $54 per ton to burn trash instead of $20 per ton to landfill or how you can even profit from recycling. Taxpayers are paying millions of dollars extra to poison themselves.

We also have news for Mayor Bivens and Mr. Collieran. The figures that we presented which included emissions of lead, cadmium, acid gases such as hydrochloric acid, sulfur dioxide, nitrogen oxide, carbon monoxide, volatile organic compounds, dioxins/furans, etc., are indeed from the Wayne County air permit limits which leads us to believe you didn't read the material that we personally handed to you. Of course the incinerator is probably operating well within the limits because they can't find enough trash to burn at full capacity.
However, who would know since the only stack test was performed in 1988 under court order. Maybe Mr. Collieran can sleep well at night trusting that the Wayne County, the DNR or EPA will protect us from the incinerator, but everyone else should know that this facility is essentially unregulated, unmonitored and until recently has been grandfathered and exempted from many of the Clean Air Act provisions for the past thirty years. Mr. Collieran knows that even now their high priced lawyers are fighting the EPA over whether the #3 burner, which has been shut down since 1982, should be considered a "new source" or an "existing source" which would have less stringent pollution emissions and reporting requirements.

Since the contracts are already signed, the city councils of the five communities are not too willing to listen. Our only choice now is for our coalition of environmental and church groups to take our message to the people. We will continue to go door to door to hand out fact sheets and gather signatures for a petition which we plan to present at a public hearing which could be scheduled this spring.

Showers predicted this week

While the skies will be clear and dry Thursday in the western Wayne County area, the possibility of more rain on Friday and Saturday is a distinct possibility.
Thursday
Temperatures on Thursday will range from a high in the 50s during the day dipping to the 30s again at night.
Friday
Temperatures will remain constant on Friday with highs in the 50s and lows in the 30s, but skies will offer more precipitation.

Saturday
While high temperatures will rise to the 70s on Saturday, they will not eliminate the possibility of showers.
Weatherman Al's Tip: April showers have become habit forming and now we have May showers. The good news is they have also drowned the spirit of local weeds and washed our cars for free. The bad news is they have caused havoc with outdoor sports and dampened some basements.

O.K., risk takers... here's a real challenge:

Defying the odds can be fun in recreation and rewarding in business. But deadly where your health is concerned. Even if you haven't had any heart problems so far, today's culture can burden your body's systems. Add stress, less time for relaxation and a poor diet and you could be accumulating risk.

Ask yourself these questions:

Smoking: Have you stopped? A smoker dies an average of 7 to 8 years sooner than a non-smoker.

Blood Pressure: Is your blood pressure above 140/90? Almost 58 million people have high blood pressure.

Cholesterol Level: Did you know that for every 1% you lower your blood cholesterol level, your risk of heart attack drops by 2%?

Oakwood Healthcare System is committed to helping you avoid heart risk. Call us at 1-800-543-WELL for a complimentary Heart Risk Appraisal. Return it and we'll send you your personal heart risk evaluation and recommendations to help decrease your risk.

We also offer health education classes near you. And if you don't have a personal physician, we'll provide you with information so you can make the choice that's right for you.

While I am first to admit that I am often, and correctly, accused of lacking a politically correct style and/or patience with do-nothing political cronies and special interest politics, the charge that I have failed to offer any new ideas is totally off the mark.

'Yes' vote requested

To the editor:

The children are depending on us. On Monday, June 10, they need our YES vote. We all want the same things for children. We all want children to believe education and community are important and this is an opportunity to prove it to them. It is time to step forward and be responsible to the children, society, community, and our property.

Ninety years ago John Dewey wrote, "What the best and wisest parent wants for his own child, that must the community want for all its children. Any other ideal for our schools is narrow and unlovely - acted upon, destroys our democracy."

All of the schools in Van Buren are riddled with health and safety problems. How can we expect children to learn in such an environment. We need to reestablish a safe, efficient, and healthy environment for boys and girls to learn and grow, and for technology which allows for more instruction for children preparing them for the future. We all want this. We all want to salvage the communities largest, single investment.

We need to put computers into the hands of children. We need to provide safe, efficient and on time transportation to and from schools for boys and girls.

And we need to protect the communities biggest investment and insure the necessities will still be available to educate and prepare students for life. As taxpayers we own these buildings and must be willing to preserve them.

The survey conducted in December showed the community understands the needs of the Van Buren School District and cares about and is committed to children. Let's all get on the same ship and see that those needs are accomplished.

Businesses, parents, grandparents, community organizations, school staff, School Board, Administration members, police officers, firepersons, civic leaders, newspapers, politicians, factory workers, doctors, dentists, lawyers, employers and employees, i.e. citizens of this community, we all want the same things and must work together and support each other and the children

Group seeks to halt arson

To the editor:

Arson and suspicious fires accounted for 22.2 percent of the total number of fires reported during 1995. These blazes cost Michigan citizens a staggering $101 million.

To spotlight the devastating impact of arson in this state, the Michigan Arson Prevention Committee is sponsoring Arson Awareness Week, May 5-11, 1996.

Governor John Engler has issued an official declaration commemorating the week. Many businesses, organizations and groups are cooperating with the efforts of the Michigan Arson Prevention Committee to increase the public's awareness about this crime.

The Michigan Arson Prevention Committee is comprised of representatives from the insurance industry, fire and police services, business, and government. It is a dedicated group of individuals committed to reducing arson in this state.

Bills seek to close well loophole

State Representative Greg Pitoniak (D-Taylor) and Sen. Loren Bennett (R-Canton), chair of the Senate Natural Resources and Environmental Affairs Committee said that their legislation to significantly change the Michigan Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Act (NREPA) regarding the state permitting process for multi source commercial hazardous waste disposal wells has passed both the House and Senate and today was signed into law by the Governor.

"I am very pleased that this legislation won the support of my colleagues, and that they recognized the need for Michigan to strengthen our environmental laws regarding these disposal wells," Rep. Pitoniak said. "This will help protect Michigan communities, and especially our community, where Michigan's first ever commercial hazardous waste disposal well is being proposed."

"This legislation was needed to close a loophole in the law that allowed deep injection disposal wells to go virtually unregulated," Sen. Bennett said. "After a lot of work with state and local officials, we have become successful in putting tighter regulations on the permitting of these wells."

The legislation will require that these wells maintain an on-site treatment and storage facility. It also changes the regulation requirements for deep injection wells, currently regulated under the mineral wells section of Michigan environmental law. The mineral wells laws primarily deal with oil and gas wells, and do not address the environmental impact concerns of injection wells.

The legislation also would require that proposed wells be subject to the licensing requirements under NREPA, including a background check of the applicant, an environmental assessment, an engineering plan, procedures for closure and post closure monitoring, an environmental failure assessment, bonding requirements to cover the cost of closing the well and maintenance and monitoring of the well for 30 years after it is closed, and a comprehensive environmental review by the site review board of the Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ).

Hospital sued over death of child, 2

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

A month of Jayme Castle's short sad life was unnecessarily turned into a nightmare for the ailing child and his family.

On a freezing November night, state social workers took the suffering 2-year-old away from his parents in a squad car and denied Shannon and Jerry Castle custody of their son for a month. During that month, Jayme, who suffered from a deadly liver tumor, was removed from his parents' care.

In its place, Jayme received institutional care at Children's Hospital of Michigan. Care that included repeated blood tests, chemotherapy, CAT scans, chest x-rays, liver biopsies, toxic drugs, and insertions of catheters. He was pricked and probed and subjected to intense lights.

According to his mother, potential side effects of the drugs he was compelled to take against his parents wishes included liver damage, leukemia, brain damage, and heart failure.

Jayme was snatched and the Children's Hospital, which she has sued for malpractice, is disputing the charges.

harsh treatment mandated because the Castles, at first, refused to consent to the treatment, despite hospital staff doctors' claims that the treatments could save Jayme's life.

Eventually Shannon Castle signed a consent form, but she says she did so under duress. She said she had to sign to see Jayme.

"They told us that Jayme stood a 67-percent chance of survival if he were treated with the toxic chemicals," said Shannon, who lives in Plymouth.

Having seen the tumor and consulted with other doctors, Shannon and Jerry sought alternative treatments, including organic foods, natural health care, and experimental medicine from Mexico.

However, Michigan Department of Social Services has the power to remove children and is immune from lawsuits, even when they take a child by mistake, as long as it acted in good faith.

As it turned out, when the Castle's fought for the return of Jayme, who ultimately ended up in foster care, the hospital admitted that Jayme had only a 10 percent chance of recovering.

Unfortunately, by then the damage was done. Not only was Jayme taken away and subjected to the medical ordeal, the Castle's front door had been kicked in by raiding police and social workers, Jayme's brother 7-year-old brother Jeremy developed a deep suspicion of doctors and police, and the Castle's were sucked dry by legal bills.

"They hospital did it because it gets paid to do chemotherapy research on children.

It's like children are guinea pigs for their research," Castle alleged.

Children's Hospital, which she has sued for malpractice, is disputing the charges, which are before Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Roland Olzrk.

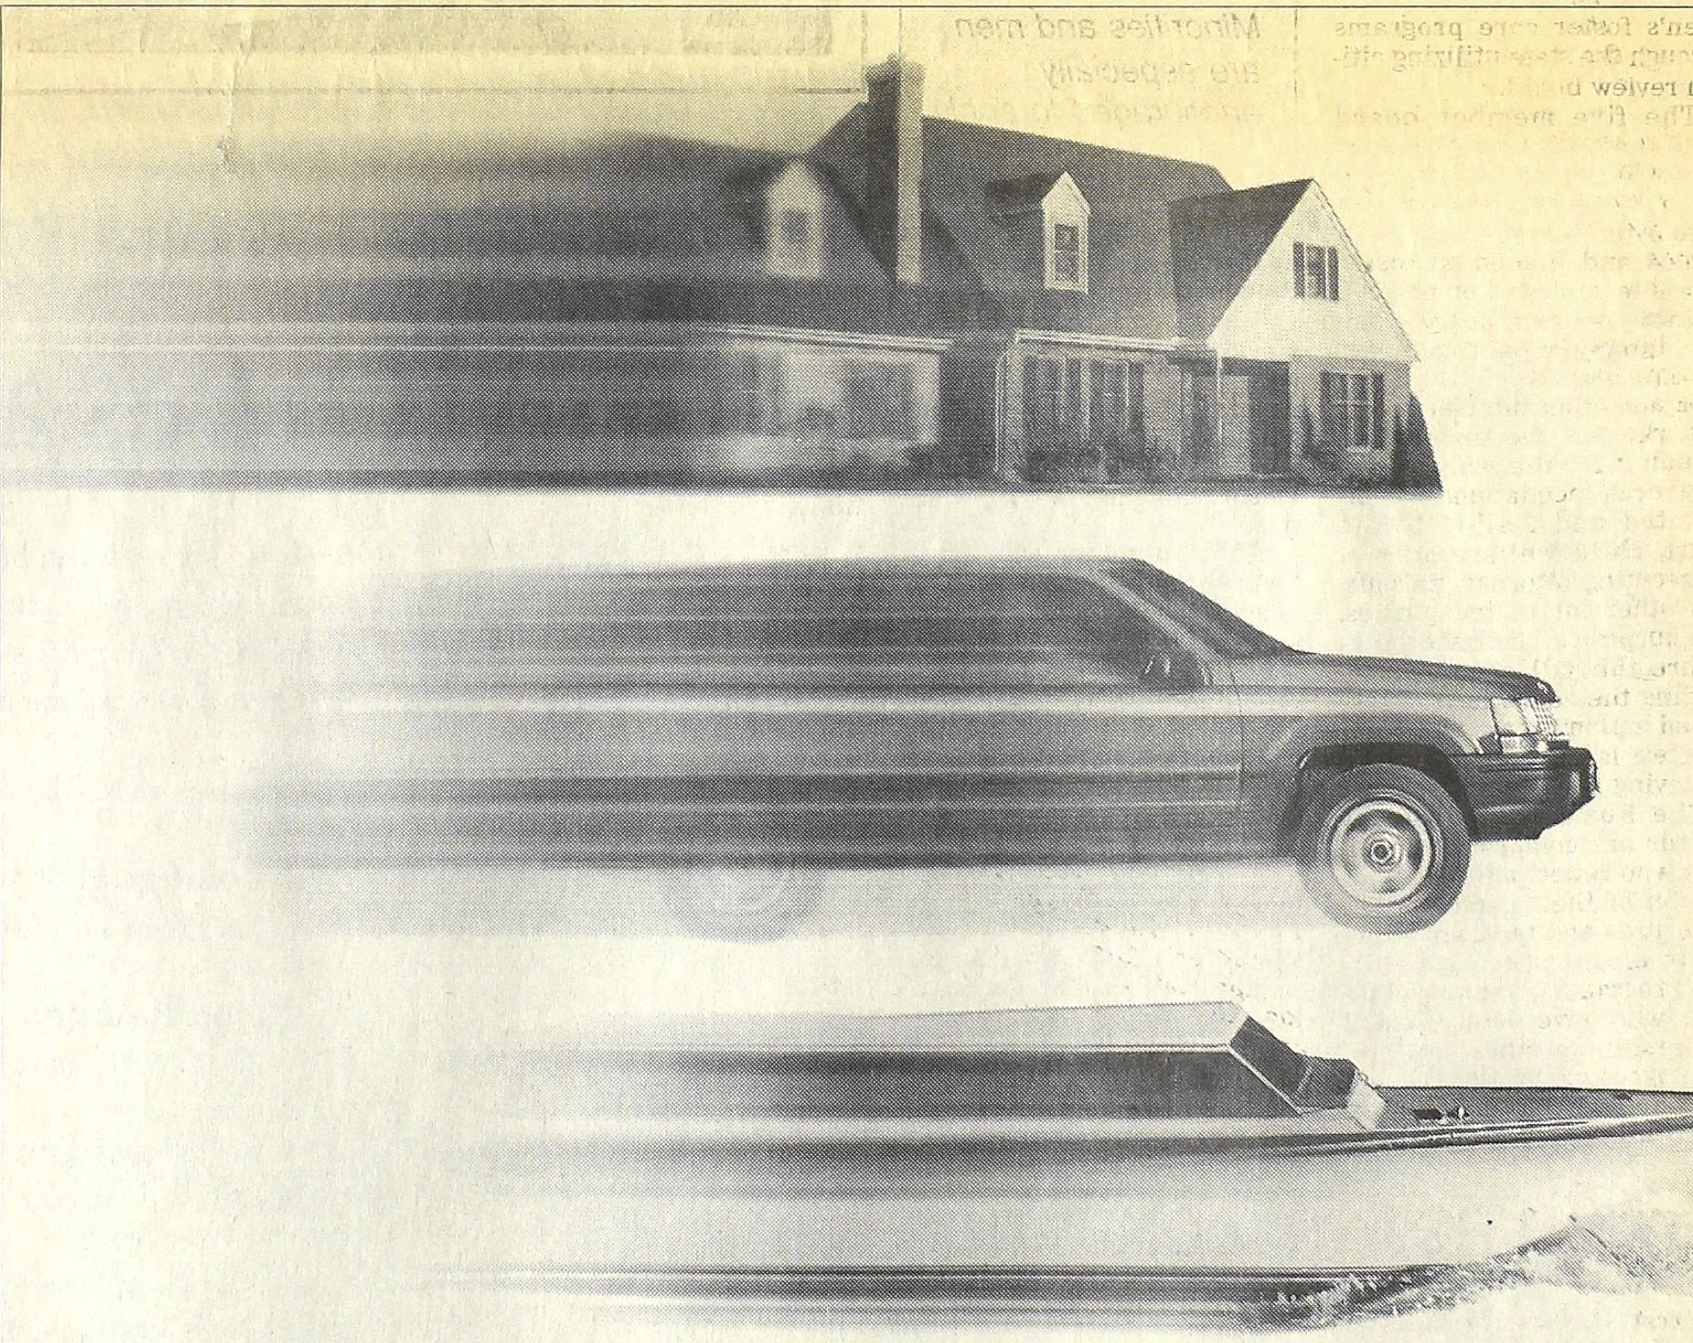

Olzrk has thrown out Castle's suit against the Michigan Department of Social Services because of MDSS's immunity.

So far Castle's lawyer Jean Hanson has been unable to prove that Children's Hospital should have know that Jayme's malady was incurable because, she says, she has not been able to subpoena relevant hospital records.

The tumor claimed Jayme's life on Feb. 26, 1994. Since then Castle has been fighting against the immunity law that gives MDSS almost absolute power over children.

"I want people to know what they're up against," she said. "Families and children have no rights. The state has tremendous power over you. They can kick your down and deprive a child of its parents. In Michigan, families are only one phone call away from devastation."

Madonna University celebrates largest graduating class

Their smiles will say it all when over 800 students, the largest class ever, join the alumni ranks at Madonna University's 49th commencement. The ceremony will begin at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, May 4, in Calahan Hall at University of Detroit Mercy.

Of the graduates, 87 will receive a master's degree, 660 will receive a bachelor's degree and the remainder, either an associate degree or a certificate.

Presiding over the commencement ceremonies will be Madonna University's vice president for Planning and Mission Effectiveness Father Francis S. Tebbe, O.F.M.. The invocation will be given by Sister Ann Stamm, CSSF, D.Min., professor and chairperson of religious studies and philosophy.

All graduates and their families are invited to attend Baccalaureate Mass at 7 p.m. May 2 in the Presentation Chapel located at the Felician Sisters' Motherhouse. A reception hosted by Madonna University President Sister Mary Francilene will be held in the Residence Hall dining room following the Mass.

Among those graduates from our area, are John Andrew Maggioncalda and Rosemary Pomaranski.

Maggioncalda is an applied science major. He started at Madonna University on a part-time basis in 1991, transferring credits from two other institutions. The Westland resident works as a maintenance engineering specialist at the Detroit Bulk Mail Center in Allen Park. He chose to go back to school for personal growth and career opportunities. He served in the U.S. Army for six years active duty, and 10 years reserve duty. He will earn a bachelor of applied science degree with high honors.

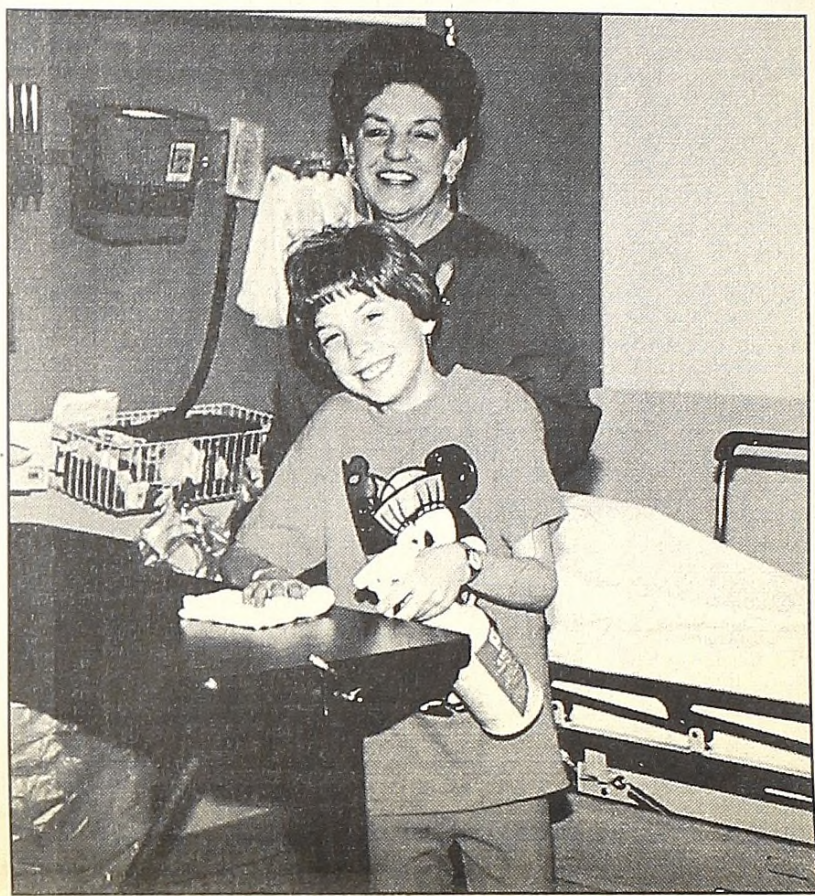

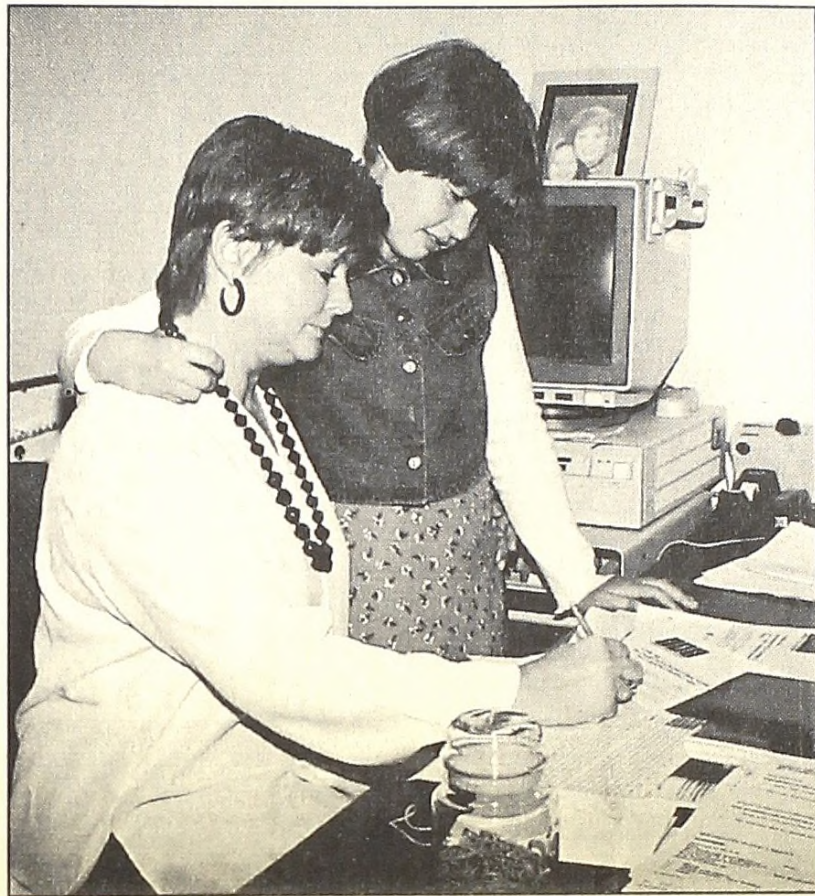

Pomaranski decided to pursue a degree in psychology and social work because of her son who has a mental illness. "I feel I have a natural talent for assisting people with special needs," she said. The Canton resident is also working toward a certificate in substance abuse and plans to become a certified abuse counselor. Her experience as an intern in a substance abuse clinic, she said, is invaluable. She will graduate with a bachelor of social work.

Editor's note: Staff writer and photographer Lori Gillespie is numbered among the graduates.

Volunteers needed for Foster Care Board

The State Court Administrative Office of the Michigan Supreme Court is seeking volunteers to serve on the Wayne County Foster Care Review Board.

The Michigan Legislature established the Foster Care Review Board Program in 1984 in an effort to improve children's foster care programs through the state utilizing citizen review board.

The five member board meets one day each month to review a representative sample of cases of children who have been removed from their homes and placed in foster care due to abuse or neglect. At these reviews, board members interview parents, foster parents, caseworkers, attorneys, and other interested parties who may be involved in planning for the ward. Advisory recommendations are formulated and mailed to the court, child welfare agency, prosecuting attorney, parents, and other interested parties. The purpose of the review is to insure that all agencies, including the court, have established a plan for the ward and progress is being made toward achieving permanency.

The Foster Care Review Boards are comprised of citizens who reflect a broad cross section of their communities. Minorities and men are especially encouraged to apply. The Program is seeking volunteers who have demonstrated leadership in other settings. Employees of the Department of Social Services, juvenile court, or private child placement agencies are prohibited by law to serve on Foster Care Review Boards.

Currently, Foster Care Review Boards operate in Clare, Genesee, Ingham, Isabella, Jackson, Kent, Lenawee, Macomb, Midland, Muskegon, Oakland, Saginaw, St. Clair, Washtenaw, and Wayne counties.

Each volunteer who is selected must attend a two day orientation training in Lansing on July 25-26, 1996. This training is a requirement to serve on a board. Also, board members attend yearly training which is held in different locations throughout the state. Expenses for training are reimbursed.

Citizens interested in volunteering for the Wayne County Foster Care Review Board should call (517) 373-4835 for an application. The deadline for receiving applications is May 15, 1996, and interviews with prospective candidates will take place in May and June, 1996.

Mother's Day celebrated with gifts, tributes

What is home without a mother? -- Alice Hawthorne

On the second Sunday in May, children pay tribute to their mothers.

The celebration was conceived by Anne M. Jarvis of Pennsylvania in the early 1900s and by 1911 it was nationally observed.

In 1912, a Mother's Day association was established to promote it, and its popularity has grown to make it one of the major celebrations of the year.

Originally the day was marked by a special church service at which members of the congregation wore white carnations. In some areas, white flowers are worn by those whose mothers are deceased and colored flowers are worn by those whose mothers are still alive.

The day is now characterized by the sending of greeting cards, flowers and gifts.

In the May edition of the Golden Hours Club newsletter, the following poem, title Mother Month was printed:

May is the mother month, warming the earth.

Watch as she nurses and cuddles new birth.

Washes the morning and hangs it to dry, Dusts with young branches the blue of the sky.

Blows on the buds till the blossoms unfold, Warns the wee fledglings to do as they're told.

Yes, she's the mother month, and we will find Ere she is done, she'll make all of us mind.

Organ series continues

First United Methodist Church of Belleville presents a third organ concert at 7 p.m. May 19.

The year-old Rodgers 940 organ will be played by organist Don Broner. The tickets, available at the church office on Sundays following worship, will cost $6.

Broner plans to present a varied program of music spanning the 18th through the 20th centuries - a musical tour from Bach to the Beatles. Broner is a frequent performer in the metro Detroit area.

He is currently director of Music Ministries at Northbrook Presbyterian Church in Beverly Hills, Mich. He has played the historic Skinner pipe organ at Central Methodist Church in Detroit for the Theater District's Annual Spotlight Tour. He served that church as organist for seven years, and served as organist for the Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church in 1994.

Broner studied at the University of Michigan under Robert Glasgow, as well as at Michigan State and Oakland Universities. He is a performer on organ, piano, harpsichord and digital keyboard. He is well-known throughout the Midwest and recently toured Germany.

First United Methodist is located at 417 Charles Street, at the end of Fourth Street. Sunday Worship is at 9:15 and 10:30 a.m. Sunday School for all ages is at 9:15 a.m. The church has education and music programs, and the senior pastor is Dr. David Strong.

The church is involved in the Ministry to Handicap and Infirm Elderly, under the leadership of Rev. Edwin Hoff. The church is handicap accessible.

Following the concert, everyone is invited for refreshments in the Fellowship Hall.

Local musicians perform with 'pops' orchestra

Several local musicians will perform with the Fairlane Youth Pops Orchestra as part of the 20th anniversary celebration of the Fairlane Town Center.

Orchestra director Dick Bright will conduct the Fairlane Youth Pops Orchestra on the weekends of May 17-19 and May 24-26.

Participating in the orchestra are: Prabhat Bhamra, Plymouth-Canton, baritone sax, and Raphael Crawford of Romulus High School, trombone, Horn Section; Leslie DeShazor, Plymouth-Salem, viola, String Section; Josh Grilley of John Glenn High School, drums, and Larry Jackson, bass, Romulus High School, Rhythm Section, and vocalist Josh Gracin, John Glenn High School.

Prabhat Bhamra, 15, a sophomore, aspires to become a saxophone-playing heart surgeon. He plans to attend the University of Michigan to study medicine.

Romulus resident Raphael Crawford, 18, hopes to have a career as a professional musician after he completes his college studies.

Leslie DeShazor, 17, of Canton, is a senior who plans to seek a double-major in music performance and education at the University of Michigan. She performs with five musical groups, including the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

Josh Grilley, 17, whose mother and step-father are musicians, has been involved in music all of his life. He plays at clubs and coffee houses with his band, Jive.

Larry Jackson Jr., 17, is a senior who plans to attend Michigan State University where he will continue his music lessons as well as engineering. He performs with After Hours, a jazz combo.

Vocalist Josh Gracin, 15, is a sophomore who plans to enhance his musical skills at Northern Michigan University where he plans to major in musical theater arts.

Bright auditioned more than 100 students with the help of musical professionals Phil Caston and Brad Hatfield. Motown artists, The Contours, also worked with the young musicians at one of the audition sessions.

Each of the 21 students selected as finalists for the Fairlane Youth Pops Orchestra will earn a $1,000 college scholarship upon graduation.

Cruise ships safe

The final report of a U.S. Coast Guard task force on cruise ship safety recommends crew training and communications improvements, particularly on vessels employing multinational crews.

Additionally, contingency planning and exercises performed in partnership with industry, emergency responders and other associated port agencies should receive greater emphasis.

The findings of the task force were announced by Coast Guard Vice Commandant Vice Admiral Gene Henn, during a noontime address before the Seatrade Cruise Ship Convention in Miami.

The report states that over the past ten years, not one passenger death due to a vessel casualty has been reported on passenger vessels operating from U.S. ports. Of reported injuries, nearly all were minor in nature. The task force concluded that there was no evidence of trends or heightened risks associated with oceangoing cruise ships from U.S. ports. It is the opinion of the task force that the cruise ship industry is a safe industry.

The task force was commissioned by Rear Admiral James C. Card, Chief of the Coast Guard's Marine Safety and Environmental Protection Directorate, in response to several cruise vessel casualties this past summer. Although there was no apparent link between the incidents, the Coast Guard deemed it prudent to conduct a safety review to assess the myriad factors that impact the overall safety of cruise ships operating from the United States.

During the course of the study, the task force focused on four primary review areas: the vessel inspection process, international safety standards, casualty analysis - both recent and historical, and cruise ship management.

Forthcoming international initiatives in the area of fire safety, crew licensing and training and safety management practices should further enhance the industry's safe record. Additionally, the report's recommendations for further improvement, primarily in the human factors area, will be addressed through the Coast Guard's "Prevention Through People" initiative.

Guide enhances bird watching

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

If someone asked all the bird watchers in America to stand up, some 65 to 70 million people would get to their feet.

"Next to gardening, bird watching is the largest leisure activity in the country. It's big and growing," said Donald Stokes who co-authored Stokes Field Guide to Birds with his wife, Lillian.

Some $2 billion annually is spent on bird feed and an additional $1 billion per year is spent on feeders, binoculars and field guides.

"No longer is the typical bird watcher a little old lady in tennis shoes," said Lillian Stokes. "It's an activity for all ages."

"A lot of Baby Boomers get interested in bird watching after their knees give out from jogging. Bird watching is relaxing, fun, exciting, challenging and it brings one closer to nature."

It took the couple three years of intensive work and a long background of studying birds to complete their field guide.

"We wanted to make it user friendly. It's the first bird book that has color tab access," she said.

The tab index is color coordinated to make the finding of birds easy. Gull-like birds are listed under a gray code and finches are described in a yellow section, for example.

"The color photography is beautiful," Lillian Stokes said, "and, all of the birds are listed in an easy-to-find order. We have five pages of common 'backyard' birds, which are 95 percent of the birds that people normally encounter."

Along with a description of each bird's identifying markings, feeding habits, nesting and behaviors is a map of their habitats, a description of their voices and a conservation comment - endangered, declining, increasing or in jeopardy.

Both Donald and Lillian were introduced to bird watching by their parents. They met when Lillian signed up for a class in bird behavior which was taught by Donald.

"Both of us love birds, and we've been writing about them ever since," said Donald. "When you finish a book, you're out of a job so you have to look for something else to write about."

Lillian's favorite birds are the raptors, particularly hawks, while Donald favors ravens.

The Stokes' have divided their field guides into two books, one for the Eastern region and another for the Western region. The books are published by Little, Brown and Company at $16.95 each and are available at local bookstores.

Novices will find the book easy to use and informative and more advanced bird watchers will treasure it as an indispensable tool to increase their knowledge of wildlife.

Also available by the same authors are A guide to Bird Behavior, Volume 11 and 111, A Guide to Enjoying Wildflowers, A guide to Animal Tracking and Behavior plus several backyard nature books on bird feeders, bluebirds and wildflowers. Donald Stokes is the author of A Guide to Bird Behavior I, A Guide to Observing Insect Lives and A Guide to Nature in Winter.

'Love doctor' prescribes tips on how to be irresistible

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

Move over, Dr. Ruth, there's a new relationship physician on the horizon, and she's prescribing some hot tips for singles.

Susan Bradley, author of How To Be Irresistible to the Opposite Sex, who has been dubbed Dr. Love and the Love Coach, is coming to town from Loving University on a "flirting safari."

A trip to Borders Books and Music in Dearborn at 7:30 p.m. May 2 will give you an opportunity to meet the dating guru and learn some first-hand tips on the fine art of flirting.

Bradley tells us that if you want to meet someone, you've got to make "a move." But, here lies the problem for most singles - what do you say that's not a turnoff, and then where do you go from there?

Bradley reveals the answers to these questions and more in her new book and in her flirting seminars.

The author defines flirting as "a playful form of communication which acknowledges another human being and expresses interest such that the opposite party can respond verbally or non-verbally to indicate a desire to meet or avoid open rejection."

No other form of communication allows you to see someone you're interested in, communication your interest in a flattering way, prevent open rejection and create an opportunity to meet someone previously beyond your grasp.

She cautions men not to use such tired lines as "Do you come here often," "What's your sign," "Your place or mine."

Instead, she recommends that men say such wonderful things as, "I hope you are just as beautiful inside as you are outside" or "As soon as I noticed you, I knew that I'd have to find some reason to talk to you."

She advises men to offer to buy a woman an appetizer or a dessert, rather than a drink - a non-threatening invitation.

If you want to attract a woman, Bradley said men must be well groomed, wearing clean and ironed clothes that fit their bodies.

"Try to be more like the mysterious cat who brushes up against you just so subtly and invitingly...then wanders away, returning everyone once in a while," Bradley suggested.

Bradley tells us that if you want to meet someone, you've got to 'make a move.' But, here lies the problem for most singles -- what do you say that's not a turnoff, and then where do you go from there?

To attract a man, wear clothing that is suggestive without being too revealing, Bradley said.

"V-necked blouses, softer, more touchable hair, asymmetrical skirts, form fitting clothes and tighter jeans" are attractive to men, she said. "Wear brighter colors: red is number one. Wear black for sensuous hot evenings or teal and purple in sexy styles for more approachability."

No-nos, according to most men, are stretch pants that are stretched to the max, too much makeup, bulky clothes, too much perfume and hair that has too much hair spray.

But, even if you have the right opening line and are dressed irresistibly, where are the quality people?

Bradley suggested that one of the best places to find a quality mate is to become involved in the Big Brother program and get to know the men who volunteer. Also, working part-time in a men's clothing store, golf course or sporting good shop will provide you with opportunities to meet men.

Attend workshops and seminars - personal growth ones are best - of all kinds and attend religious services.

She also suggests asking a man for advice at the supermarket - Have you used this brand before? Or a man might ask a woman how long she would cook a steak or roast.

As a married woman of 11 years, the writer tends to agree with Bradley's Top 11 Reasons to Get Married and Stay Married.

They are (1) taxes; (2) children; (3) having someone to take out the garbage; (4) frequent and unlimited sex; (5) to stop dating; (6) having someone to help with car repairs and laundry; (7) having someone to grow old and decrepit with; (8) having someone to "do life" with; (9) no more TV dinners; (10) warming up cold feet, and (11) having someone to count on when life is not fair.

The book that the author describes as a "life changing guide to loving" is published by Loving University Press and is available at area bookstores.

My advice to those who purchase the book is to write your name on the book in big, bold letters so that it won't be carried off by friends who may want to become irresistible before you. It's a terrific guide on what to do and not to do in the dating game, and if you follow the doctor's prescription, you should be on your way to a healthy relationship.

Susan Bradley, also known as the "Love Doctor," has a formula for attracting the opposite sex and fulfilling relationships, which she reveals in her new book. MCN Special Photo

Older Americans Month celebrated

Echoing the national theme "Aging: A Lifetime Opportunity," Governor John Engler today declared May as Older Americans Month in Michigan. Following a 33-year tradition initiated in 1963, Engler said that a special commemoration for older adults makes sense because there is much to be learned from our older adult population, a group with skills and talents which are often overlooked and underutilized.

"I am pleased to be able to add Michigan to the list of states which are declaring Older Americans Month at the state level, as well as to recognize and to pay tribute to older person," Engler said.

Carol M. Parr, Acting Director of the Michigan Office of Services to the Aging, said that some senior centers and other aging-related organizations are planning special events in honor of Older Americans Month. The state agency, as part of the month-long commemoration, has produced bookmarks with a nationwide, toll-free number, for use by seniors and their family members who have concerns or questions about how to access community services for older people. The toll-free service, dubbed the Eldercare Locator (1-800-677-1116), is imprinted on the bookmarks. The services is funded by the U.S. Administration on Aging and operates Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 11 p.m., Eastern time.

Bennett announces more funds for higher education

Michigan's universities and community colleges will be getting more money this year as the result of a state budget surplus, announced Senator Loren Bennett (R-Canton Township).

The Department of Management and Budget declared the surplus today, resulting in an additional $18,805,186 for Michigan's 15 state universities. "this is an excellent way to spend a surplus; investing in our children's future," Bennett said. "this additional money should provide the means by which our state's colleges and universities can keep their tuition costs down. That is vital to continuing affordable education for our kids." The university allocation of $18,805,186 includes U-M Dearborn, $250,000, and Wayne State University, $3 million.

Michigan community colleges are receiving an additional $3,847,914 and allocation of those funds includes Henry Ford Community College, $276,759; Schoolcraft Community College, $147,844, and Wayne County Community College, $235,233.

The Higher Education and Community College budget for fiscal year 1995 called for the surplus to go toward higher education. There are no restrictions or requirements on how the funds may be used by the various institutions. "No state department has over-spent its budget in the last three years," Bennett said. "I'm proud to be a part of this team that is working to stretch the taxpayers' dollars just as we would our own. This is what down-sizing government and providing accountability can do."

Push continues for middle class income tax relief

House Democratic Leader Curtis Hertel of Detroit announced continued efforts by House Democrats to provide income tax relief to middle class families throughout Michigan.

"Real tax relief is allowing middle class families to keep more of what they earn, and making necessities, like caring for your family, more tax friendly," Hertel said.

House Democrats are sponsoring proposals to:

- Increase the personal exemption from $2,500 to $4,000.
- Provide a $500 tax credit for child care expenses.
- Increase the college tuition tax credit from $250 to $500.

• Create a new tax credit for families caring for elderly relatives at home.

These proposals were first introduced by House Democrats in the beginning of 1995, but have been blocked continuously by the House Republican majority.

"Tax cuts can be targeted to address the real needs of middle class families," Hertel said.

"Increasing the personal exemption puts more money into the pockets of middle class families to spend on necessities, plain and simple," said

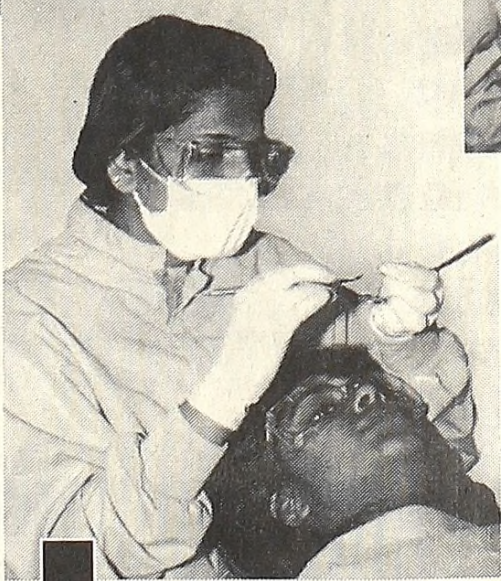

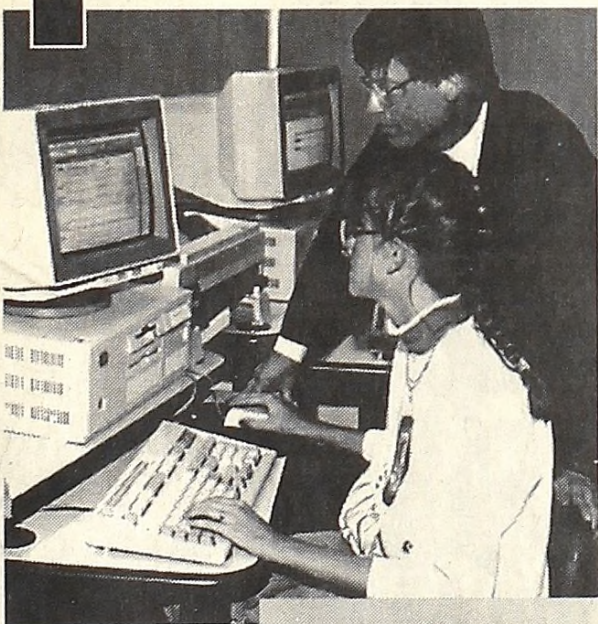

Rep. Michael Griffin (D-Jackson).

"Families who care for elderly parents or grandparents in their homes deserve help in meeting the costs of an additional family member," said Rep. Dennis Olshove (D-Warren), sponsor of the elder care credit.

Local man honored in WSU magazine

A local business man is honored in the current issue of Impact, a publication of the Wayne State University School of Business Administration. The special edition honors the 50th anniversary of the school and several of its notable graduates, including Jack Demmer of Jack Demmer Ford in Wayne, a member of the School of Business Administration's Council of Executives. Demmer, a 1948 WSU graduate, was featured in the 50th anniversary edition of Impact. Demmer's education at Wayne was interrupted by World War II. Having served in the Navy in India and China, he returned to classes after the service and completed his bachelor's degree in business administration. As a student, Demmer worked at his father's used car lot in Detroit and also worked for Detroit Delivery Service. In 1957, he and his partner, Jim Spitler, opened an Edsel dealership and, several years later, a Ford Mercury dealership. In 1969, Demmer and his partner opened a Ford dealership in Wayne and he bought out Spitler six years later.

He continues to serve as chairman and chief operating officer of Jack Demmer Ford. Three years ago, he joined with business partners to form the Community Bank of Dearborn, a full-service bank that opened in 1994. He is quoted in the WSU publication as saying, "Wayne State gave me a lot of tools to work with. It taught me how to use my talents and my brain. It wasn't always easy to get to Wayne, or to find parking there, but that helped me learn that getting ahead in life wasn't easy. You had to put in effort for the things you wanted to achieve." Demmer serves with 23 other WSU graduates on the Entrepreneurial Studies Group which annually sponsors an Entrepreneurship Forum which brings together top business executives, students and faculty to discuss business topics. "In addition to the 50th anniversary, the past year represents another significant milestone for the school in that we now have more than 20,000 graduates from our various degree programs. Most importantly, the vast majority of these individuals continue to work in metropolitan Detroit," said interim dean David Williams. "Among other recent accomplishments, the school's scholarship endowments have now grown to the point that we are able to make awards totalling more than $100,000 to deserving students every year."

Top Mom Last chance to enter

Today is the last day to nominate months for the Michigan Community Newspapers' 1996 Mother of the Year contest. To illustrate our generosity and compassion -- Mom told us to -- we are extending our deadline to noon tomorrow, May 3. Individuals who wish to nominate their mothers may fax us at 729-6088, or drop off your entry to the Wayne office at 35540 Michigan Ave. or the Belleville office at 397 Main Street. Nominations must be made in 100 words or less. Include the nominee's name, address and phone number plus the name of the nominator. Our editorial board will select the top prize winner from the entries and runners-up from the other five communities. The six special mothers will be honored on Mother's Day with certificates, flowers and a family dinner for the top prize winner. Their photos also will appear in the newspapers' Salute to Mothers on May 9. The winner of the contest will receive $50 worth of certificates from Amantae's Restaurant, which can be used for a holiday meal or on any other day of the winner's choosing. She and the five runners-up will receive flowers from local florists and certificates acknowledging their selection as MNC Mother of the Year or 1996 Community Mother of the Year. Don't procrastinate -- remember your mom is counting on you!

Prepare now for contest

In late summer, we'll be looking for the area's tallest sunflower, and the time to get started is now! Last year, the tallest sunflower towered almost 15 feet, and this year we are looking for one to equal or surpass the 1995 winner. According to sunflower growers, one must start with seeds marked "mammoth," which will produce stalks of eight, 10 and 12 feet or more.

The seeds can be started indoors for a head start and should be planted in a sunny location after the danger of frost has passed. After the plants have a good start, then they can be fertilized, the flower experts said. We'll be out with out measuring sticks in four months to check on the progress. A prize for the tallest sunflower will be awarded.

Beard attends school-to-work meeting

The National Advisory Council for School-to-Work Opportunities held its mobilization meeting last month in Washington, D.C. and Wayne County Commission Vice Chair Kay Beard was at the table to ensure Wayne County's voice was heard "loud and clear."

Vice Chair Beard serves on the 44 member National Advisory Council for School-to-Work Opportunities established in the fall of 1995 by Secretaries Robert B. Reich and Richard W. Riley to advise the Departments of Labor and Education on implementation of the School-to-Work Opportunities Act. The Council membership is representative of the wide range of stakeholders in the school-to-work community. Council members represent the following categories: educators, employers, labor, community groups, the general public, students, parents, State officials and local officials. The Council mirrors at the national level the necessary local partnerships being created across the country.

Vice Chair Beard is the only representative from county government and the only Michigan person on the Council. "Following my appointment I pondered what to bring to the table, then decided to try to bring a perspective from county government, a governmental unit that needs to be included in any local School-to-Work program," said Vice Chair Beard.

The purpose of the two-day meeting held March 28-29 was to clarify a vision for the national School-to-Work Opportunities program, lay the groundwork for members of the National Advisory Council for School-to-Work Opportunities to become an effective working group and develop first action steps and identify roles and responsibilities for the members of the National Advisory Council for the next year in subcommittees.

Vice Chair Beard is a member of the subcommittee charged with developing a Strategic Marketing Plan for the School-to-Work program, of which a major component is a PBS special on the School-to-Work transition movement.

Some people may object until they understand what the School-to-Work Opportunities Act is really all about.

- Kay Beard

This September, PBS public television stations across the nation will broadcast a one-hour special that takes a close look at the nation's grassroots efforts to meet the challenge to prepare our young people for the high-skill and high-tech jobs of the future. "Jobs: The Class of 2000", produced by award winning WQED Pittsburgh, explores how different communities across America are creating inspiring success stories and new opportunities for young people. The program will allow viewers to travel from student-run farming and robotics ventures in Oregon to machinist apprenticeships in Oklahoma to intensive health care internships in Boston, among others, as young people progress toward promising careers.

"Some people may object until they understand what the School-to-Work Opportunities Act is really all about. This public television program is a great opportunity for everyone -- from corporate CEO's to parents -- to learn about the School-to-Work program," said Vice Chair Beard. "With so many employers throughout the country downsizing or merging, but at the same time seeking higher skilled employees, it's important that we begin now to identify potential community partners," Vice Chair Beard continued. "We will need to engage area business leaders as advocates of the School-to-Work program in order to recruit others. This television special is an essential first step," she said.

The goal of the School-to-Work Act is to create learning systems throughout the country to help all students master the academic and technical skills they need in their chosen careers. These new systems bring together parents and other leaders from business, labor, communities and schools to implement the three core components of School-to-Work: School-based learning, work-based learning and connecting activities.

The Advisory Council will meet twice a year to advise the Secretaries. The next meeting is scheduled to be held in September.

Trust dollars 'safe'

A legislative committee's decision to withdraw a proposal to pay for pollution cleanup with Natural Resources Trust Fund dollars was hailed by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC).

Richard L. Jameson, MUCC executive director, commended the Senate Committee on Economic Development, International Trade, and Regulatory Affairs, and its chairman, Senator Bill Schuette, R-Midland, for backing off from a Senate resolution that would have asked voters to approve using $25 million from the trust fund every year for hazardous waste cleanup.

MUCC conceived the idea for the trust fund, which uses royalties and lease fees from gas, oil, and mineral production on state-owned land to purchase land for recreation or protection and development of public recreation facilities.

"The committee's decision not to tap the trust fund for purposes for which it was not intended comes at a very appropriate time," Jameson said, "since this week marks the anniversary of the fund."

The committee's decision not to tap the trust fund for purposes for which it was not intended comes at a very appropriate time.

- Richard Jameson

Since it was established, the fund has been responsible for the purchase of over 136,000 acres of land for the public and over 900 recreation projects across the state, 600 in local communities, such as riverwalks, ballparks, campgrounds, picnic areas, and natural trails, including the recent approval by the trust fund board of the Detroit riverfront projects.

"We are supportive of Sen. Schuette's attempt to find other funding sources for hazardous waste cleanup," Jameson said. "The trust fund has greatly increased our public lands and recreation opportunities in Michigan for the past 20 years and will continue to do so well into the future."

Low-profile Romulus running wild in new league

Eagles are 2nd-best at Monroe

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Romulus, the newest kid on the Mega Conference Red Division track, may be attempting to keep a low profile, but after Coach Norb Glover's second-place finish at the prestigious Monroe Invitational on Saturday and three consecutive conference wins, he and the Eagles have definitely raised some eyebrows around the league.

In fact, most Mega Conference coaches are now convinced that the Eagles will be the next conference champ.

"I don't know about that," says Glover, after back-to-back victories over Garden City and Fordson last week. "But I must say this for our kids, they don't shy away from anyone. They like a good challenge."

Romulus finished second only to Toledo Witmer at Monroe and came home with the second-lace trophy. Witmer garnered 111 points compared to Romulus' 94. However, the Eagles finished ahead of an outstanding field of notable track teams including Ann Arbor Pioneer (71), Troy (52), Monroe (51) and Westland John Glenn (49).

Other teams that competed are: Taylor Center (25), University of Detroit Jesuits (14), Taylor Kennedy (11), Ypsilanti (6), Edsel Ford (2) and Taylor Truman failed to score. Redford Catholic Central also was scheduled to compete but was a "no show".

Romulus won four of the events. Junior Nick McKinney long-jumped 21 feet, 4 1/2 inches for the gold, and teammate Ambrose Green bolted from the field of 800-meter runners to finish first in 2:01. Runningmate Jason Davis finished third.

Romulus also struck gold in the 400-meter relay as Freddie Russell, Nick McKinney, Brandon Deyampert and Patrick Thomason were clocked in 44.1. The Eagles also won the 1,600 meter relay with a lineup that included Steve Smith, Jason Davis, Larry Jackson and Ambrose Green. The winning time was 3:31.0.

The Eagles also finished second with Thomason in the 200-meters who lost the gold to the Monroe sprinter (22.8).

The silver went to the Eagles in the 800-meter relay as Sterling Powell, Randy Frison, Smith and Thomason finished second in 1:31 to Toledo. Although Larry Jackson sustained a hamstring injury, he remained in the pack and finished third in the 400-meter dash. His 52.0 earned for him a bronze.

Melvin Hicks cleared six-feet in the high jump competition for a bronze, and Green who was clocked in 11.33, was the third best sprinter in the 100-meter dash.

Frison, a sophomore, was fourth in the 300-meter low hurdles (41.92).

The Eagles destroyed Garden City 91-37 on Tuesday and also routed Fordson 86-46 in their first-ever Red Division encounters last week.

Romulus is back on the track today, entertaining Coach Bob Bridges and Dearborn's Pioneers. Dearborn has an outstanding track program and a victory over Bridges' Pioneers would definitely enhance Romulus' title stock.

Bulldogs continue to run like champs

Undefeated Robichaud crushed Highland Park last week and cleared the track for showdowns this week with River Rouge and Willow Run for the undisputed rights for first-place in the Suburban Athletic Conference.

"It should be an interesting week," said Robichaud coach Francis McCauley, after his team disposed of the Parkers 97-7 for their second straight SAC victory. "One of our goals this year is to win the final SAC title. In order to reach that goal, we need victories over Rouge and Willow Run."

The SAC will be dissolved after the current school year.

Rouge and Robichaud were to tangle on Tuesday (weather permitting), while Willow Run will invade the Dearborn Heights' high school field on Thursday.

On Saturday, Robichaud will compete in the annual All-Area Invitational which will bring teams together from Dearborn Heights and Dearborn. Edsel Ford is the host of the second-annual meeting of track & field teams from Dearborn, Fordson, Divine Child, St. Alphonsus, Crestwood and Ann Arbor.

"This meet provides us with a unique opportunity to see some of the better athletes in this area," McCauley stressed.

In the meantime, Robichaud continued to dominate the SAC. Against Highland Park, the Bulldogs received a triple victory from junior Tamika Craig who remained undefeated in the 100-meter dash (12.1 against the Parkers). Craig also won the 400-meters (59.4) and crossed the finish line first in the 800-meter run (2:51.0).

Robichaud's super soph Andrea McGrew captured a first in the long jump (17' 10") and also placed first in the 300-meter low hurdles (49.7) and the 1,600-meters (6:10). There was a tie for first in the high jump between Bulldogs' Alandra Bulger and Tanisha Brown. Ivery Gray won the shot put competition with a toss of 28 feet, 10 1/2 inches.

John Glenn's track stock has been paying off in dividends this season thanks, in part, to the efforts of senior Jake Baker who has helped the defending Western Lakes Conference champs post three straight victories. After winning three events against Walled Lake Central and Wayne Memorial, including the long jump (above), Baker also stood out at the Monroe Invitational where he struck gold in the high jump competition. In the photo at the right, Baker's teammate Randy Glenn picked up a sixth-place medal in the pole vault event at Monroe. The defending champs and Plymouth-Salem will meet today in a showdown that will decide which team remains in first-place. Photos by Carolyn Shough

Salem seeks crown
But not if Rockets have anything to sayBy TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

If Plymouth-Salem is the legitimate heir to Westland John Glenn's track throne, coach Geoff Baker's Rocks will have to prove it to the defending champs today when the two Western Lakes Conference powers clash.

Glenn, after beating up on Walled Lake Central, 91-46, and cross-district rival, Wayne Memorial, 83-54, apparently isn't ready to concede its crown to anyone at this point of the season.

"It's going to be an interesting meet," said Glenn's veteran coach Jess Shough. "They have a lot of kids back from last year and were picked to win it. There's definitely a feeling around the league that the winner of this one may be the next champ. I don't know about that, but we're ready to see what they got."

Glenn last week received a sterling all-around performance from senior Jake Baker. Baker, a triple winner against his natural rival Wayne earlier in the week, also dominated three events against Central as he cleared 6 feet, 2 to win the high jump, then picked up firsts in both hurdles events with a 17:02 for the 110-meter highs and 44.3 for the 300-meter lows.

Mark Dugas had a personal best in the discus (145 feet, 4), as did Mike Samples in the shot put (47 feet, 11 1/2). They provided two other Rocket wins. Harden James gave the Westlanders victories in the 100 (11.8) and the 400-meter (55.3) dashes.

The Rockets also won the 200-meters with Dan Berishaj (23.9), the 800-meter run with Chris Gillen (2:06.7) and the 1,600-meter run with Joe Wojtowicz (4:54.6).

On Saturday, Shough's Rockets joined 14 local and area teams at the Monroe Invitational where they finished sixth behind Toledo Witmer, Romulus, Ann Arbor Pioneer, Troy and Monroe.

Baker again proved he is one of the area's

Belleville finishes in middle of pack at own invitational

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Despite outstanding individual performances from team members who competed against some of the worst conditions that a lingering winter could have stirred up, Belleville won six events but settled for fourth place at its own invitational relays staged on Saturday.

Competing against strong winds and a field of seven area high school teams, Coach George Devore's Tigers captured six gold medals and finished with a total of 80 points that placed them fourth overall in the field.

Adrian dethroned Belleville as the Tiger Invitational champ. Adrian finished on top with 92 points, 5 1/2 more than runnerup, Wyandotte (86.5). Saline was third (82), followed by the host, Belleville, (80), Walled Lake Central (68), Livonia Churchill (44), Lincoln Park (7.5) and Garden City (4).

"Overall, I thought our kids performed well," said Devore, whose last two teams have won the invitational and conference titles. "However, there were some individual let-downs that cost us points."

Belleville senior Kevin Robinson picked up a gold medal for his efforts in the 110-meter hurdles. He cleared the obstacles in 15.18. Teammates Ian Gold and Nate Lewis provided the Tigers with a 1-2 finish for the 100-meter dash. Gold's 11.0 led the pack; Lewis was clocked in 11.37.

Belleville also dominated the high jump relays as Machia Coats successfully negotiated 6 feet, 4 inches and teammate Eric Summers cleared 6 feet, 2 for a winning total of 12 feet, 6.

Devore selected Gold, Alfonso Garner, T. J. Bobbitt and Lewis for his foursome in the 400-meter relays. The Tigers responded in 44.64, leading Adrian (46.26) and Walled Lake Central (46.38) to the

2 teams join Wayne at 'Red' summit

By TOM MOORADIAN

Usually a coach doesn't see anything humorous after an opponent pounds his team for 13 runs in one inning, then goes on to a mercy victory, 21-2.

But, then, every coach hasn't been around the diamonds as long as Jim Chronowski has.

"You know, the Tigers get paid for allowing 17 runs in an inning," smiled Chronowski after Monroe thrashed his Zebras, 21-2 on Friday. "Our kids don't."

Chronowski's remarks came after Monroe's victory in a game called Friday because of the 10-run mercy rule. The loss lifted Monroe and Southgate Anderson into a three-way, first-place tie with Wayne in the Mega Conference Red Division baseball circuit.

"Things just got out of hand," Chronowski said. "We bobbled a couple of balls and they (Monroe) got a couple of clutch hits which put runs on the scoreboard in that first inning. I have never seen anything like that in a long time."

The loss also was the first for Jason Howard, whose personal pitching record dipped to 2-1 on the season. Of Wayne's four hits against the Trojans, Clark Boston accounted for three of them.

It was a different story earlier in the week against Southgate Anderson. After spotting their Red Division foe

Show time: Salem, Glenn are locked in a do-or-die twin bill

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

It's show me time for Plymouth-Salem, the defending Western Lakes Conference baseball champ, and title-hopeful Westland John Glenn who are scheduled to meet on Friday for a doubleheader on the Glenn diamond.

"This series against Salem is crucial for us," said Glenn's first-year coach Todd Duffield whose team is backed up against the wall after losing two conference games last week.

Neither team can afford to remain wallflowers if they hope to get back into the title race.

The April 15 scheduled Salem-Glenn game was cancelled due to inclement weather, and the coaches agreed to play a doubleheader Friday. Game time is 3:30 p.m.

The Westlanders ran up against a Rocket-launching 6-5 southpaw, Jeff Trzos, who struck out 17 Glenn batters, scattered five hits to lead North Farmington to a 4-2 victory last week.

"I have not seen anything like that in a long time," said Duffield, commenting on Trzos' performance. "He was incredible."

But Trzos got off to a shaky start in the first inning. He gave up a leadoff walk to Gordie Smith, but struck out Jason Robertson. Trevor Davey sliced a 2-2 count for his first of four hits that advanced Smith to third. When Trzos hit Sean Heard with an errant curve, the Rockets had the bases loaded with only one out.

But the NF hurler proceeded to strike out the next two batters he faced. Then, in the second inning, after his teammates got him three runs, he struck out the side.

Glenn threatened in the fourth, scoring two runs as Scott Fink started the rally with a leadoff single, and raced home when Tim Reeves tripled. Tye Golden then hammered one to the shortstop which was booted, allowing Reeves to score.

Trzos got out of the inning without further damage when, after Golden advanced to third on a wild pitch, he struck out the next three batters.

Against Harrison, Glenn wasted a perfect four-for-four day by Davey who stroked three doubles and a single off of winning pitcher Matt Deroucher.

Deroucher went the distance, collected nine strikeouts and issued six walks.

Harrison had a 2-0 lead until the bottom of the third when the Rockets came up with three runs on successive walks to Reeves, Heard and Fink followed by Scott Stewart's fielder's choice and a two-run single by Paul Merandi.

Harrison came back for four runs in the top of the seventh off of loser Golden, who also struck out nine and walked five in his seven innings of work.

wire. Belleville also won the 800-meter relay as Gold, Garner, Coats and Lewis again came through. They combined for a 1:30.81 finish that gave them an easy victory over the second-place Saline lineup (1:35.69). Churchill runners finished third with 1:36.0.

Robinson led off the winning Tiger 1,600-meter relay, and Gold took the baton on the second leg and increased the Tiger lead to 10-meters before handing off to Derrick Thomas who protected the margin before surrendering the baton to Coats, who coasted the rest of the way and crossed the finish line first, beating Adrian's anchor.

Belleville made it 2-1 in the Mega Conference, Red Division at the expense of Wayne Memorial. The Tigers turned back their rivals 77-58.

If the Tigers are to remain focus in the conference title picture they will have to beat Monroe (at home) today. They'll travel to Ypsilanti on Friday to compete in the Golden Triangle Invitational which also brings together teams from Ypsilanti Lincoln, Saline, and Willow Run.

two first-inning runs, the Zebras came back for four runs in the bottom of the second, and went on to win.

Wayne's senior righthander Al Thomason, getting some relief help from John Clendenning, got credit for the win. Thomason worked the first five innings, scattered four hits and struck out three. However, he also issued seven walks which eventually convinced Chronowski that his starter needed help in the late innings.

In the four-run Wayne second, losing pitcher Tom Carr got off to a wrong start when he hit Ron King with a wild pitch. Brian Falahee followed with a single that set up Charlie Leverenz's two-run base hit that tied the score at two-all.

Then, after Carr notched a strikeout, he put Jeff Temple aboard on another hits batsman. Leverenz and Temple eventually scored when Clark Boston drove a Carr fastball down the left field line.

Wayne tilted the scoreboard for two runs in the third inning and scored two insurance runs in the fifth for the victory.

On Saturday, Wayne got a look at Dearborn Edsel Ford down in the flats and swept the T-Birds in a doubleheader, 11-1, and 9-5.

The first game was abbreviated created by the mercy rule. Temple pitched a three-hitter in his inaugural start on the mound. The Wayne hurler fanned five and walked two.

Falaha and Brant Tajiri led Wayne's eight-hit assault. Falaha singled and doubled, scored once and also batted in a run, while Tajiri cashed in two singles for an RBI and he also scored twice.

In the nightcap, Leverenz went the distance, struck out nine and walked five T-Bird batters. He was tagged for nine hits.

Clendenning had a pair of doubles that counted for two RBIs. Kevin Wetmore came through with two singles and he also had two runs batted in.

Wayne carried a 7-4 record into the week that began with a rain-out against Belleville on Monday. The Zebras were to play, weather permitting, Lincoln Park on Tuesday and were scheduled to play their first night game last night at Garden City.

On Friday, Taylor Truman comes to town in a crossover. Truman presently leads the Blue Division standings.

McCauley's foursome for the winning 3,200-meter run included Bulger, Deanna Kulman, Althea Graham and Stephanie Gray who were clocked in 12:31. The 800-relay with Gray, Graham, Juanita McGrew and Lorri Alverson ran a 1:53.0, while April Johnson picked up a first in the 110-high hurdles (18:54) and Juanita McGrew crossed the finish line first in the 200-meter dash (27.7).

Kulman led the pack to the tape for the 3,200-meter run. Her winning time was 15:29.

In the 400-meter relay, the Bulldogs coasted to a 4:21.1 with Andrea McGrew, Bulger, Alverson and Craig.

Belleville give state's top-ranked team scare

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

In an April 27 tournament, Belleville's softball team went up against the number one ranked team in the state, Lakeland High School, and held them to only two hits before losing 1-0 on an unearned run.

Belleville wound up taking second in the Lakeland Invitational, after defeating Rochester, 14-4, and Holly, 5-3. Belleville's Melissa Pack, Tracy Cornett, and Jennifer Christman were named to the All Tournament team, along with the Tigers' pitcher, Meghan Harple.

"We had the opportunity to win, we just couldn't get the runs in," said coach Peggy Curtis. "(Lakeland) only had two hits, and scored on one unearned run. I'm pleased we were able to go 1-0 against the number one team in the league, and we had an injured player."

With Harple pitching every game so far this season, the team is 3-1 in the league, 7-2 overall.

Against Wyandotte, the day before the tournament, Harple struck out 10, and walked one, as Belleville won, 4-1. Pack was 3-4, with one RBI, a double and two singles for the day. Karen Radicki was 2-3 with two RBIs, and Robyn Golden doubled.

In only their second loss of the season, Belleville went into extra innings against Lincoln Park before the opposition won the game in the ninth, 5-4.

Wayne wastes Buford's efforts

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Competing against strong winds, Wayne Memorial's senior hurdler Richard Buford turned in double win, however, Buford's victories weren't enough to stop a determined Westland John Glenn track and field team.

The Rockets shot down their natural rivals in a cross-district dual meet, 83-54 to remain undefeated this year.

Buford was clocked in the winning time of 15.2 for the 110-meter high hurdles. He also placed first for 100-meter dash, crossing the finish line in 10.8.

Buford also helped generate the speed that powered Wayne to victories in the 400-meter and 1,600 relays.

Buford teamed up with George Buchner, Karl Calloway and William Houze to post the winning time in the 400-meter relay, and the foursome also combined to win the 1,600-meter relay event.

Wayne's Houze, Calloway, Richard Johnson and Darrell Johnson finished first in the 3,200-meter relay.

Senior Jake Baker provided

Glenn three of its 10 first places. The talented all-around athlete won the long jump, high jump and also the 300-meter low hurdles.

The Rockets received a pair of firsts from Mike Samples who was the top performer in the shot put (46 feet, 4 inches) and also in the discus (131 feet, 10 inches).

Randy Glenn placed first in the pole vault while junior Joe Wojtowicz looked good in the 1,600-meters, an event he won in 5:04.3. Wojtowicz was also first to the tape for the 800-meters, covering the distance in 2:08.47.

blue chip athletes. The Glenn senior placed first in the high jump (6-4), and became the only Rocket gold medalist at the invitational (See Page C-1 story for other results). Mike Phillips placed sixth in the event (5-10).

Marc Dugas was second in the discus (149'1") and teammate Samples was fourth (145').

The Westlanders also got a bronze from Charles Bailey who leaped 20 feet, 3 1/2 inches in the long jump and Baker and Randy Glenn finished fifth and sixth respectively in the pole vaulting competition.

The Rockets' speed relay teams also picked up medals. The lineup of Charles Bailey, Steve Hester, Berishaj and Harden James ran a 1:35.1 for the silver in the 800-meter relay and the same foursome finished fourth in the 400-meter relay (45.3).

Glenn's 3,200-meter relay team of Wojtowicz, Jim Koch, Mark Carter and Chris Gillen toured the distance in the fourth-best time of 8:45.6.

Baker's 15.65 in the 110-meters low hurdles was good enough for a fifth-place medal.

"We got an opportunity to see some of the teams that we will be competing with at our regionals," Shough said. "It was good competition for our kids."

Romulus' Evans signs with Ferris

Ryan Evans, named to the Michigan Community Newspapers' All-Area Team last year as a first-string quarterback, has signed a national letter of intent to attend and play football at Ferris State University this fall.

The announcement was made by Ferris State head coach Jeff Pierce.

The 6-2, 190-pound Romulus High senior signalcaller also has earned recognition as a outstanding baseball player. He has lettered in both sports for the past three years.

"We're excited to have Ryan become a part of our football family at Ferris State," said Butch Jones, FSU's offensive coordinator. "Ryan is an outstanding talent with a lot of athletic ability and we're expecting him to uphold the great tradition of Bulldog quarterbacks."

Ryan is the son of Rich and Joyce Evans of Romulus.

Ferris State posted its best season ever in school history last fall by registering a 12-1 overall record and an untarnished 10-0 mark in the Midwest Intercollegiate Football Conference. The Bulldogs not only claimed their fourth consecutive MIFC title, but they also advanced to the semifinal round of the NCAA Division II National Championship Play-offs.

Kulman led the pack to the tape for the 3,200-meter run. Her winning time was 15:29.

In the 400-meter relay, the Bulldogs coasted to a 4:21.1 with Andrea McGrew, Bulger, Alverson and Craig.

Sportsmanship, tournament format proposals on agenda

An expanded sportsmanship effort headlines the spring meeting agenda of the Michigan High Athletic Association's Representative Council, which takes place May 5-7, in Bay City.

The spring meeting is the major legislative session of the year for the body of 19 school officials, most of them elected by MHSAA member schools. The Council will review a number of regulation issues, as well as recommendations from Association committees for many sports.

Sportsmanship has been a major discussion topic for the Council during 1995-96. Nearly three hours or a normally shorter Fall meeting was spent dealing with sportsmanship issues, and at its March meeting, the Council reviewed an action plan assembled by the

The Council will also continue to address tournament reclassification issues.

MHSAA staff. It is that package which the Council will vote upon in May.

The expanded sportsmanship approach would include increased efforts in three areas - Education, Encouragement and Enforcement - and add a fourth element - Exposure. The Education element would include additional efforts by coaches associations; a sportsmanship summit, which would equip schools, leagues and conferences to go back into their communities and improve awareness of sportsmanship in the general public; and an amendment to the MHSAA Constitution which would call upon school boards to fulfill their responsibility and opportunities they have as community leaders to shape positive sportsmanship.

The Council will also continue to address tournament reclassification issues.

A vote may be taken on a plan which would utilize the second semester fourth Friday count as the enrollment figure used to determine which of four classes a school is placed. The classification would be effective with the following school year and last for that entire year. The current procedure uses the fall fourth Friday county, and a school's classification runs for a calendar year.

Canton grad joins soccer team

Rebecca Brown, a freshman at the University of Pittsburgh, and graduate of Plymouth-Canton High School, was one of 17 current Pittsburgh students who were selected as members of their first-ever women's soccer team, which will begin intercollegiate competition next fall.

Forty-three players showed up for the first official tryout session in March, and of that group, 17 were selected to return to pre-season practice in August. This will be conducted by first-year Head Coach Roland Sturk, who has spent the previous six seasons as head coach of the women's soccer program at Regis University in Denver, Colorado.

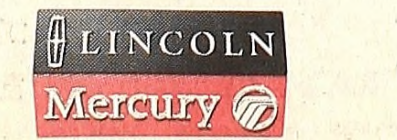

"I'm still working to put all the pieces of this first team together, but things are starting to fall in place," said Sturk. "I am hopeful that we will be able to compete favorably with the teams we have on our schedule for next season. We have a balanced and challenging schedule that won't overwhelm us in our first season. Some of the players selected in the tryouts this spring will be counted on to make a positive impact, especially if we're to be successful in our first year."

In addition to the 17 current Pittsburgh students who will participate in fall drills, Sturk has signed five high school seniors to national letters-of-intent. Sturk also has commitments from at least five players who have indicated they will join the team as walk-ons in August.
